Been Awey 21 Years

Dr. Truman Holmes, of Bremerton, Washington, arrived here Monday for a week's visit with his father Dr. B. F. Holmes. Dr. Holmes left Hillsboro twenty-one years ago and this is his first visit home.

He has retired from the practice of medicine and is conducting a large drug store in Bremerton, a city of almost 20,000.

Dr. Holmes is a native son of Hillsboro and after entering the practice of medicine was a partner of Dr. J. C. Larkin for several years. During his long absence from Highland County he has twice visited the Orient and has pecome prominent in Western business circles. Naturally, after so long an absence, he finds many changes in the Old Home Town, and misses many once familiar faces.

His visit is a great pleasure both to him and to his many friends here.

Last Roll Call For Veteran

James McNary, a Civil War Veteran of the 60th O. V. I., died at his home in Cynthiana last Tuesday at the age of 79 years. Pneumonia proved too much for his enfeebled strength Funeral services were held at the home this morning at ten o'clock. One sorrowing daughter survives him.

We were informed this week of the death of John Foreman, brother of Louis Foreman of this place. John was once a resident of this place.

David Crider of Lafayette, Ind., and Lafe McDaniel of Fort Harrison were calling in the home of the latter's sister, Mrs. Otta Rolfe on New Year's Day.

Lillian Foster and brothers, Floyd and Clayton were calling on their cousin, Lafe McDaniel and saw the old year out and the new year in. They enjoyed the evening eating popcorn, candy and peanuts, and talking of the past years happenings.

The funeral of Dr. O. E. Hoop of Seaman was held at Marshall New Year's day.

Mrs. Jas. Rowe suffered a stroke of apoplexy Wednesday evening She never regained consciousness and passed away Sunday morning. Funeral services from the home Tuesday morning conducted by Rev. J. H. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Pulse celebrated their Golden Wedding aninversary Saturday Jan 1st. Just 50 of their relatives and friends were present.

One of the most pleasant and charming social events and in harmony with the Yuletide season took place at the home of Mrs. A. W. Milburn, one mile east of Belfast on Christmas day, when the only daughter of the home, Miss LeVera Marie, was united in marriage to Mr. I. Simeon Overholser, of Springfield.

The house decorations of green and bright red berries of holly which within themselves bespeak affection were in accord with the season and graced the occasion and lent an air of inspiration to the guests.

At high noon the bride and groom entered the room to the strains of Mendelshon's Wedding March played by Miss Gladys Cummings, of Marshall, a cousin of the bride and took their places under the massive white bell in the center of the room. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. E. S. Cummings, of Martinsville, an uncle of the bride in the presence of the near relatives and a few of the most intimate friends of the bride.

Immediately after the ceremony the guests repaired to the dining room where a bounteous four course dinner was served. The dining room decorations were beautiful red and white chrysanthemums and the green and red bell which o'er hung the dining table seemed to chime in and peale for the the festive spirit of the occasion.

The birde and groom left amid showers of rice on the 2:30 p. m. train for a short wedding trip to Tennessee and other points of interest in the South. On their return they will make their home at 421 N. Plum St., Springfield, where they will be at home to their friends after January 25th.

The bride is the accomplished daughter of the late A. W. and Mrs. Milburn and has many qualifications that fit her for home life. Her departure breaks another link in Belfast social circles where she is held in high esteem by her many friends.

The groom is a prosperous merchant of Springfield. He has many friends in this county who know his sterling qualities.

Obituary.

"There is a reaper whose name is Death
And with his sickle keen,
He reaps the bearded grain at a breath
And the flowers that grow between."

Little Lois Eileen, one of those flowers, daughter of Lewis and Clara Roush was given to them July 20th, 1910. On the 8th day of November, 1921, the Savious just reached down with his great loving arms and gently lifted her across the dark Jordan and placed her at the foot of the throne, where he could care for her, forhe said, "Suffer them to come unto me and forbid them not for of such is the kingdom of Heaven."

God left her here 1 year, 3 months and 18 days, the pride of the family, when he took her home to the great family of the redeemed.

Would you ask "how far away is Heaven? Is it beyond the stars in some far distant clime?" Ask this family today. They would say, "Just one little step."

She leaves father, mother, two sisters, one brother, a grandfather, two grandmothers and numerous friends and relatives to mourn. But the little prattling tongue has ceased, the little crib is empty and we must submit.

There's no baby face in the cradle,
There's no rosy lips to kiss,
There's no little voice calling papa,
And oh! how our darling we miss.

The sunshine of life has been clouded,
The hopes in our heart are all fled;
With grief has our joy been enshrouded
We are weeping for Lois is dead.

No more will the hand of our darling
Be lifted in innocent glee;
To wave out the sweet baby welcome
And make home so precious to me.

There's no baby's face in the cradle,
No more will that dear little head
Be laid on the soft downy pillow
Our dear little darling is dead.

Fired Last Shot in Civil War.

So repeated were the arguments as to who fired the last shot of the Civil war that it required an official seal by the War Department to settle the matter an dso guard the distinction of D. N. Osyor, now a resident of Columbus, Ohio.

A great many shots were undoubtedly fired as a result of the war after Osyor's bullet, but as the war was officially over they have not been counted.

Osyor was a member of the Ninth Ohio Cavalry. On the morning of April 17, 1865, he was in action about 12 miles from Durham Station, N. C., in what was known as the Cedar Swamp. He was waist deep in the water when a sharpshooter fired at him, the bullet tearing the sergeant's chevron from his arm. At the moment Osyor returned the shot, which struck the Rebel in the knee, "cease firing" was sounded and a flag of trruce was raised by the opposing force.

C. L. Shumard of this place, was a member of the Ninth Ohio Cavalry and was in action with his company when the memorable shot was fired.—Blanchester Star-Republican.

E. M. Keelor, of Grand Rapids, Mich., has been visiting his sister, Mrs. Thos. Holladay, and other relatives the past week. Mr. Keelor left Hillsboro over twenty years ago. He has thoroughly enjoyed his visit here, meeting and renewing acquaintance with old friends.

Mrs. Wm. Hill of Blanchester attended the funeral of Mrs. Thos. Luker and spent a few days with her sister Mrs. Mary Luker.

Miss Fannie Terrill of New Vienna spent Thursday with her uncle R. H. Terrill and family.

Mrs. Jas. Earl and daughter, Miss Pauline and niece Mildred Earl spent a month here with relatives and have returned to their home in Fort Worth Texas.

The body of Mr. Howard Gillespie arrived at Hillsboro last Saturday evening and the funeral services and burial were held on January the 11, at ten-thirty.

MEMOIR

Sarah E. daughter of Andrew and Matilda Tedrick was born near Fairview Highland County, Ohio. November, 9th, 1844, and peacefully fell asleep at her home in Blanchester December 25th, 1920.

She was the second of a family of eight children, one sister and two brothers having preceeded her to their heavenly home.

In early life she united with the Christian Church at Danville and remained a consistent member all her life.

She was united in marriage with Lewis P. Fouch September 3rd, 1863. This union was blessed with five children; four sons, and one daughter, all of whom remained a comfort in the declining years, her husband having passed away April 11th, 1914.

Having a genial, cheerful disposition she made friends where 'ere she went.

She will be sadly missed in the community and in the home circle most of all for she was a good mother.

The Eastern Star loses a faithful member, she being always willing to lend a helping hand where duty called her.

We gently bear the wearied form,
Into the phantom bark,
She will not fear, Christ went before,
The way will not be dark;
And safe beyond the troubled stream,
Her tired heart's strife o'er,
Our angel mother glorified
Will grow old never more.

War Prisoners Reunited After 60 Long Years

A Civil War debt was paid recently. It would have been years ago if Major John A. Bering could have found trace of John W. Arnold since the two met at Camp Ford, Texas, a southern prison camp. Recently at a reunion at Hotel Sherman, Chicago, Major Bering, who is an uncle of Dr. J. A. B. Srofe, of this place, met Arnold and the debt of $100 was paid, which the Major borrowed of his friend during the war.

Bering and Dr. Srofe's father were captured after having exhausted their ammunition at Sabine's Cross Roads, La. Arnold, who belonged to the Chicago Mercantile Battery was also captured. It is said that Arnold, whose fingers were dexterous in handling pasteboards, originated the army game of "five cards" which so tickeled the fancy of the Southern soldiers, that Arnold was able to accumulate $2,500 at the game, while he lay in durance vile.

From this sum Major Bering obtained a loan of $100. Later on Dr. Srofe's father and Major Bering made their escape. Mr. Srofe, who was an expert penman, signed two passes with the name of a Confederate colonel and thus armed the two successfully negotiated the Rebel lines. Arnold later made his escape, and both men passed over the plantation of Simon Legree, the place made famous by Harriett Beecher Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin".

The two built a raft, which eventually sank, destroying their food and surplus clothing. Later they were recaptured and were in the prison camp when the war ended.

Major Bering often visits Mr. and Mrs. Srofe, and this story, which came out substantially the same in the Chicago Herald and Examiner is characteristic of the incidents filling a long and eventful career. Major Bering's home is in Covington, Ky. —Leesburg Citizen.

One of the saddest accidents recorded in Highland County occurred Saturday morning, resulting in the death of little Harry Linton Nickeson, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nickeson of Leesburg. The child was accidentally struck by an ice truck, receiving injuries from which it died Saturday evening.

Mr. Nickeson, a former resident of Hillsboro, conducts a meat market in Leesburg near his home. His little son was in the habit of often visiting his father's shop, and as is natural with little chaps, had a great love for machinery and automobiles. Saturday morning the big truck of the Greenfield Ice Company backed up to the meat market to deliver Mr. Nickeson's regular supply of ice. It is believed that Harry Linton was attracted by the big machine and stepped around in front of the engine to look at it, and possibly play at cranking it."

Being busy, and naturally never dreaming of the lad being in front of the machine, the driver climbed into the truck from the rear, stepped into the drivers seat and started the engine. The hood over the big, high power plant of the truck, was so large that it completely hid the little chap in front of it, and when the truck started up the raditor struck Harry Linton it is presumed, throwing him backwards to the street. The driver, not knowing of the accident drove away and a few minutes later, Mr. Nickeson, glancing out of the shop door, was horrified to see his son lying senseless in the street.

The frantic parent rushed the injured laddie to the office of Dr. Ralph Holmes, where the lad was found to be dangerously injured, it being necessary to revive the laddie to some extent in order to make an intelligent examination. It was found that the poor litle chap had suffered concussion of the brain, causing a cerebral hemorrage, which necessitated hospital treatment. He was therefore rushed to Hillsboro where he was received at the Highland County Hospital at about 3:00 o'clock. In the meantime he had lapsed into unconsciousness and despite the skilled efforts of Dr. J. C. Larkin and Dr. Holmes, he passed away at five-thirty.

Mrs. G. B. Beecher, accompanied by her son, Norman and Walter B. Selph, left Wednesday morning for Los Angeles, Calif., where she and her son will winter.

Mr. Selph will go on to Whittier, California to join his father, D. B. Selph, who has been engaged in business there for some time. Walter expects to remain in the SunKist State permanently, both on account of the climate, which he believes will benefit him physically, and on account of the excellent opportunities the West offers to young men.

Walter will be sorely missed by the younger set in Hillsboro, as "Scrubby" as he is familiarly known, has been an universally popular chap, well liked not only among his associates of his own age, but in business circles generally. For some time he has been attached to the office of the County Engineer, and is a former member of the Gazette Staff.

He takes with him the very best wishes of his wide circle of friends,

CENTENARY OF PRES. U. S. GRANT

Observance Of Birth In Clermont County Planned. Judge Nichols Heads Movement.

Agitation for a fitting observance of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of General Ulysses S. Grant, who was commander of the Northern forces in the Civil War, has been begun by prominent Ohioans with Chief Justice Hugh L. Nichols, of the Ohio Supreme Court, at their head.

General Grant was born at Point Pleasant, Clermont County, Ohio, in April, 1822. It is the intention of those behind the movement to celebrate his centenary throughout the entire state. The idea originated with Judge Nichols, who knew the Grant family well. Judge Nichols's home is at Batavia, Clermont County.

The father of General Grant, Jesse Grant, a tanner, moved from Point Pleasant to Georgetown. For years General Grant resided at Bethel, Clermont County. His son, Fred Grant and his daughter, Nellie Grant, now Mrs. Sartoris, were born near there.

In commemoration of General Grant, the highway known as the "A. B. C. road," meaning Adams, Brown and Clermont Counties' road, and which passes through these three counties, has been re-named "Grant Highway."

For some time Judge Nichols has been agitating the matter of a centenary observance for General Grant, and he has made a number of addresses upon the subject before G. A. R. and American Legion bodies. He will make many more of these when he retires from Supreme Court bench after January 1. He expects to devote considerable of his time toward working up interest in the affair during the coming year.

Judge Nichols believes that Cincinnati will be the proper place for the general plans for the centenary to have their inception, and to this end he intends to take up the matter with the civic bodies in this city. General Grant had frequently visited Cincinnati, and had referred to the Queen City in his memoirs. Judge Nichols hopes to have the coming General Assembly take up the matter and provide for it, thereby making the affair state-wide in its scope.

"Of course this should be a civic function for the G. A. R. to take charge of," said Judge Nichols, "but members of the Grand Army now are getting old and their burdens must be shifted to younger shoulders. What more fitting than that their sons and grandsons, the members of the American Legion, should get behind the project and put it over the top, like they put over the cause of humanity when they joined the army and won the great war in Europe?"

Judge Nichols was quite young when General Grant resided in Clermont County, but he was 18 years old when the General died in 1885. At that time Judge Nichols was correspondent for the Enquirer in that section. As a result he had a chance at his first "big story", and sent four columns describing the General's early life to the Enquirer. "It was the first money of any moment I ever earned," said Judge Nichols yesterday.

OBITUARY

George R., son of Willian and Rose Ann Hart was born March 1st, 1838 near Willetsville, Ohio. He was married to Mary Jane Runyon Aug. 6th, 1862, and to this union were born five boys: Silas, Charles, Miles, Albert and Matt; and four girls: Lucy, Minnie, Ida and Lizzie. Charles died in infancy. Ida passed away in 1898 and Minnie followed her less than two years ago.

He was a member of Dunns' Chapel for a number of years. Although stricken down and death coming soon after he knew he had been called to the home beyond the skies and passed away early Friday morning, December 10th, 1920, aged 82 years, 9 months and 9 days. Although in great pain and suffering he never complained. He was a kind and loving father and a good neighbor, always ready and willing to lend a hand to anyone in need and his death has cast a shadow that will never be lifted until like him they cross the silent river of death to be with his Maker for ever more. On the Church roll Father's name will be missed but he has gone to join his children gone before and what a happy reunion that will be. May his life be a guide to those left behind.

He was never happier than when surrounded by his children, grandchildren and friends. They all received a happy welcome from him and his kindness to all who knew him will never be forgotten, Even in his last days he knew his friends and neighbors and always had a smile for them.

Weep not that his toils are over,
Weep not that his race is run,
God grant we may rest as calmly
When our work, like his, is done.
Till then we yield with gladness,
Our Father to him to keep.
And rejoice, with sweet assurance
He giveth his beloved sleep.
Through all pain at times he smiled,
A smile of heavenly birth,
And when the Angels called him home
He smiled farewell to Earth.
Heaven retaineth now our treasure,
Earth the lonely casket keeps,
And the sunbeams love to linger,
Where our sainted father sleeps."

Highland County's first known fatality from "Sleeping Sickness" occurred on Monday of this week when Russell Eyre, who lived with his mother and sister on the Alvah Barrett farm near Bridges, succumbed. The deceased was about 20 years of age and had been in robust health until some few weeks ago when he contracted a slight cold.

"Encephelitis Lethargica", or "Sleeping Sickness" is a peculiar disease that has been causing a great deal of trouble in Europe and has been the subject of much study by American physicians and surgeons. According to the latest reports on the disease, as recounted to the Gazette representative by one of Highland County's most prominent physicians, this disease positively has no connection whatever with influenza, but often develops where there has been an infection. A very pe- there has been infection. A very peculiar feature of the disease is that the patient although in a coma, exhibits intense nervousness and will start violently when touched, yet does not rouse up. Even when sinking very low and with the coma intense the patient will be in constant motion, hands picking the bed clothing, restless movements, etc.

Young Eyre complained of a pain in the back of his head about a week before he became acutely ill. This later affected his sight and he complained of "seeing double". This is one of the symptoms of sleeping sickness and precedes the coma. The temperature of the patient constantly rises and with Russell it kept climbing until it passed 108. On Friday he fell into the coma, and although he could sometimes be roused by violent methods all efforts to keep him aroused were unavailing and he gradually slipped into a deeper coma, with constantly increasing temperature until he passed away on Monday. Funeral services were held at Bridges on Wednesday and interment was made in Bridges Cemetery.

Russell was quite well known in the Leesburg and Bridges neighborhoods and was an industrious, straightforward, hard working young wan who held the respect and esteem of the entire community. He is survived by his mother, and two brothers, Ed. and Cleve.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wright were in the home of their daughter Mrs. Dora Carl one day this week.

Tinker Ober and wife were tramping through this place Friday from Peebles. They have no home. Claim to be hunting a location in Darke County.

The McDaniel Girls and grandma Thompson were calling on Mrs. C. H. Murray Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Michael are with their daughter Mrs. Rachel Marol of South Carolina who is not expected to live.

P. D. Stotler was on business here Friday.

Williard Carl and Alt Mack called on P. D. Stotler Sunday.

Alice Morrow wrote a letter home from Gibbons, Nebraska., stating that the people were burning their corn for fuel. Coal is scarce and very high.

But it was God's will and His will be done and we feel that our loss on earth is her Eternal gain in Heaven.

The entire community was shocked Sunday morning when the word was spread that Miss Goldie Mauntel had fallen a victim to the heavy hand of death, passing away at about 9:30 o'clock at the home of her father on East Main Street.

Miss Mauntel had been ill but a week, but although her condition was very serious from the first, yet hopes for her recovery were sustained until the latter part of the week, when she rapidly grew worse. She was 33 years of age and was one of Hillsboro's most charming and popular young ladies.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at the Methodist Church, conducted by Rev. J. N. Eason and interment was made in the Hillsboro Cemetery. Death was caused by pneumonia.

Miss Mauntel was widely known for her pronounced musical ability and was a prominent figure in church, social and community life, where she was always ready to help in every possible way and where her violin was a delightful portion of the programs.

For a number of years she has been a member of the Methodist Church Choir and was a lifelong member of that Church. About a year ago she lost her mother and today the bereaved home contains a sorrowing father, George Mauntel, a grief stricken sister, Miss Ruth, and a saddened brother Guy Mauntel and family of Danville.

Miss Mauntel's death is a sad loss to the entire community.

Death of Miss Jessie Doggett

Miss Jessie Doggett, 59 years of age, died Monday afternoon at 1:30 at the home of her brother C. D. Doggett and family. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the home, conducted by Rev. J. N. Eason and interment was made in the Hillsboro Cemetery.

Miss Doggett was widely known and highly respected and for some time has been one of the valued members of the staff of efficient assistants at Vance's Cash Grocery. Prior to her acute illness, which was first noticed on Thursday of last week, she had been feeling ill and complained of a pain in her head. But, with her customary energy and determination, she had continued to report at the store until last Thursday morning, when she became so ill that she was forced to go home. That evening she became critically ill and Dr. W. B. Roads was called. But the dread destroyer was not to be denied and she continued to grow worse until the end came on Monday.

Miss Doggett was a very unusual woman, always cheerful, capable in all matters, very industrious and energetic and with a cheery word for everyone. Her acquaintance was widespread and she will be greatly missed throughout the community.

The immediate family who survive her are Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Doggett, their daughter, Miss Mary and their son, Walter Doggett and his family.

Death of Mrs. Anna Hill

Miss Anna Hill died Friday afternoon at 1:30 at the home of her mother on East Main Street. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock at the home, conducted by Rev. J. N. Eason. Interment was made in the Hillsboro Cemetery.

Miss Hill had been a sufferer from a lingering illness but her unfailing cheerfulness, and Christian fortitude never failed her. She was a native of the Clear Creek neighborhood, but had been a resident of Hillsboro since early womanhood when her family moved to town.

Her considerateness, kindness and innate love for her fellow beings made her uninversally popular and esteemed and her absence will be keenly felt by her wide circle of friends. She was a lifelong member of the M. E. Church.

DEATH OF DR. B. F. HOLMES

Highland County's Oldest Living Practitioner Falls Victim To Pneumonia.

Highland County's oldest practicing physician, Dr. Benjamin F. Holmes, was removed from our midst last Friday morning by the heavy hand of death, and in his passing Hillsboro loses one of her most widely known and respected citizens. Dr. Holmes was a quiet, reserved man, deeply interested in the welfare of the community and the happiness of others, and many a family whose home has been blessed by his acts of kindness will deeply miss him.

He was suddenly stricken with illness early last week, but even after being forced to take to his bed, he made a great effort to rise and respond to the call of one of his patients, but the effort was too great and the kindhearted doctor was forced to tell his friends that they must call some one else.

He rapidly grew worse and it was felt that the end was near. Fortunately one son, Dr. Truman Holmes of Bremeton, Wash., who had but recently visited his father, had not gone far on his return trip and was reached by telegraph, arriving here two days before his father died. The other son, Dr. Audry Julian Holmes, of Westminister, British Columbia, was also notified of his father's serious illness and started for Hillsboro at once but the end came before he arrived. His daughter, Mrs. Mary Wiggins, and her son Lawson, lived with Dr. Holmes.

Through the kindness of fate, Dr. Truman Holmes, who had not been home on a visit since he went to Washington twenty-one years ago, had but recently visited his father and sister for a week and his visit afforded Dr. Holmes the deepest pleasure. Dr. Audry Holmes, through unavoidable delays, did not arrive in time for the funeral, which was held Monday at one-thirty at the Presbyterian Church of which Dr. Holmes had been a regular attendant for many years. Owing to the son's delay the body lay in state at the church until he arrived Thursday after which it was interred in the Hillsboro Cemetery. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. B. F. Paist, a warm friend of Dr. Holmes, assisted by Rev. J. N. Eason, pastor of the Methodist Church of this city.

Dr. B. F. Holmes was the son of Dr. and Mrs. Enos Holmes, and was born in New Petersburg, Aug. 20th, 1842. He was educated in the public schools and then studied medicine under the tutelege of his father, after which he attended Starling Ohio Medicial College at Columbus, receiving his diploma in 1865. He was immediately appointed a surgeon in the Union army and served to the close of the Civil War. After a brief period spent in practice in Samantha, he located in Hillsboro where he remained until his death. He and his father located their offices some forty years ago in the same rooms which Dr. Holmes continued to occupy until his death. They were each successful physicians and probably no man in Hillsboro had a wider circle of friends and acquaintances than Dr. Holmes.

Dr. Holmes was twice married, his first wife, Miss Henrietta Julian, leaving twin sons at her death, and the second wife Miss Mary Cochran, leaving a daughter. The three children, above mentioned are still living. Dr. Truman Huff Holmes is a highly successful physician and druggist in Bremerton, Washington, while Dr. Audry Julian Holmes is an equally successful dentist and business man in Westminister, British Columbia. The daughter Mrs. Mary Wiggins and her son Lawson, lived with Dr. Holmes. Dr. Holmes will be greatly missed by the little folks of Hillsboro, as he was very fond of children and his acts of kindness in this regard cannot be better illustrated than by his distribution of gifts last Christmas to the families where Christmas could not be observed on account of poverty. Dr. Holmes did this without ostentation, quietly slipping out with his baskets and making the little ones happy and gladdening many a heart which will now be saddened by his passing. He was 78 yrs of age, and the direct cause of his death was pneumonia.

Tragedy in one of its most terrible form visited the little home of James Adkins, near Sedalia, early Sunday morning and as a result six lives were blotted out and another victim lies in anguish, his death hourly expected.

As a result of an explosion of kerosene, when Mr. Adkins attempted to use it to start a fire, he lies at the Cherry Hill Hospital, terribly burned and at the point of death, his wife and their three weeks old little daughter, Freda, three other daughters, Grace 14, Cleona 10 and Ruth 4, and his wife's aged blind uncle, Walter Bennett, 70, are dead and his home in ashes.

The whole section of the country near Sedalia where the Adkins family were favorably known is horrified over the frightful accident. The family lived on the N. S. Tway farm, where Mr. Adkins was employed, in a frame, two story house on the White pike, in Paint township, between Sedalia and Yatesville. The husband and wife and their baby daughter were sleeping in a down stair room and about three o'clock Sunday morning the cries of the baby awakened the father and mother. Thinking the child was ill, Mrs. Adkins asked her husband to light the fire in the stove in the room in which they slept. He arose put some wood in the stove and then secured a can of kerosene. When he attempted to throw some of it on the wood, some live coals are thought to have been underneath for an explosion occurred and the fire shot out, the flames enveloping Mr. Adkins. His underclothing was ablaze in an instant. In his frenzy of pain he rushed out the door and fell into a slimy mudhole nearby to extinguish the burning clothing. The severe extent of his burn even then was partly ascertained afterwards by those visiting the scene who found in mudhole perfect imprint of his hand with the charred skin and nails which had been stripped from his arm remaining where he had fallen.

The only account of what had happened immediately afterwards was the tortured description given by Adkins to neighbors, doctors and nurses who sought to ease his suffering.

He stated that he had a faint recollection of seeing some of the burning oil being shot across the room where his wife and baby were lying. When he arose from the slime where he had sought to rid himself of his fiery clothing although in agony he thought he must obtain help and staggered blindly down the road a quarter of a mile to the home of Weller Montgomery, where he aroused the family.

Almost unable to speak coherently when they let him in he pointed back to his house but Mr. Montgamery evidently thought he was trying to explain his own condition. The Montgomery family was alarmed by the appearance of Adkins and tried to quiet him and help him, spending many precious minutes trying to reach a doctor by telephone. Later when Adkins said his house was afire they looked out and saw the home in a blaze the flames already leaping above the tree tops.

When neighbors finally arrived at the burning house it was so entirely ablaze that nothing could be saved. Whether the members of the family died as they slept is unknown, and searchers through the ruins afterwards were unable to gain any clue from what was found of the charred remains of some of the bodies which were unrecognizable.

As soon as possible Mr. Adkins was hurried to this city in an ambulance which was met at Bloomingsburg by Dr. Hazzard who had been called. He was hurried to Cherry Hill Hospital where the best possible attention was given him but there seems no hope for his recovery as almost three fourths of the skin on his body has been seared by flames. From the neck to his feet he was a mass of burns and his suffering has been almost beyond description although he has been conscious a greater part of the time.

The charred remains of the six bodies were placed in one casket and interment was made in one grave in the Washington cemetery, Monday afternoon at two o'clock. —Washington, C. H., Record-Republican.

Memoir.

Franklin Pierce Stroup—better known to the writer as Uncle Frank—was born near Dodsonville, Ohio, Jenuary 4th. 1853, died in Lynchburg, Ohio, January 24th, 1921.

He was the youngest of 10 children born to Clayburn and Mary Stroup, 4 of whom survive him. Armenor, the eldest resides at Danville; Jackson, at Mt. Sterling, O; Mrs. Jennie Baber in Indianapolis, and Joseph at South Liberty, O. The latter being the only one who could be with him during his last illness.

Since the death of Calvin Stroup 2 years ago, he has been President of the Stroup reunion and now we shall miss him when we gather again in the accustomed place.

Being musically inclined, he spent several years of his young manhood in organizing and instructing bands in various sections of the country.

For 3 years he was a member of the O. N. G. at Hillsboro.

On May. 3rd, 1879 he was united in marriage with Rebecca Bishire, with whom he lived happily for more than 12 years. After her death in 1891, he journeyed to the West where he remained for a time. Returning to Ohio, he was united in marriage with Allie Stultz on February 2nd, 1893. Again his marriage was a happy one and to them were born 4 sons and one daughter: Otto Charles, Raymond Franklin, Galo Stultz, Lena Vivian and Claburn Howard; all of whom, with their mother survive to mourn the loss of a kind and devoted father and husband.

Frank Stroup will be missed by hostsof friends who knew and respected him for his sterling qualities.

Upright in all his dealings, genial in disposition, generous to a fault and loyal to the church with which he became identified at Fairview under the ministry of Rev. Kyle in 1895. He leaves to his children a legacy which out values silver and gold. And in the hearts of neighbors and friends a vacancy which can never be filled, save by these children themselves as they develop the same characteristics which were so likable in him and emulate his ideals. Chief among these was the education of his children and how gratifying the result has been thus far, is demonstrated by the 3 eldest who have been engaged in teaching since completing their High School course, with the exception of one year which Otto spent in service during the World War.

But oh! how he longed to tarry a little longer and lend his strength until Vivian and Claybourn could complete their education and join rank with the brothers. But the All-wise Father saw fit to will it otherwise and the disease which for some months had been enroaching itself upon him terminated rather unexpectedly.

Conscious of the fact that the end was near and reconciled to the will of God whom he had been trying to serve for many years, he was permitted to enjoy the presence of his family and converse with them in regard to the future. And with his loved ones gathered about him and the spirit of Christ in his heart, he closed his eyes on earthly weariness, and, as if floating back from the departing spirit we seem to catch the echo of these words:

Weep not that my toils are over;
Weep not that the victory's won.
God grant you may rest as camly
When your work, like mine, is done."

DEATH OF MR. HARRY W. SPARGUR

Mr. Harry W. Spargur, aged 77 one of Hillsboro's most prominent and highly respected retired business men, died at his home here at 10:1[illegible] on Wednesday night. He had been a semi-invalid for the past year, suffering from arteria schlerosis, and this trouble was complicated by a deep cold which he recently contracted.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at the home on South High Street.

For many years Mr. Spargur was a prominent figure in Hillsboro business circles, having at various times been successfully engaged in the grocery business, the dry goods trade and the lumber business. After his retirement from active work he gave his time to the management of his agricultural interests.

He was the last of three Spargur Brothers, Joseph, John and Harry who were such prominent figures in the development of Hillsboro industries.

Mr. Spargur was twice married, his first wife having been Miss Eliza Puggsley. To this union were born two children, Mrs. Homer McKeehan of Cleveland and Dr. Harry Spargur of Cincinnati, both of whom survive him. After the death of his first wife Mr. Spargur married her sister, Miss Alice Puggsley, who also survives him. He also leaves to mourn his loss one grandchild, Mrs. Maynard Rees of Boston, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McKeehan.

On last Tuesday morning our community was greatly saddened to learn of the death of Dora Claibourn. The funeral was held at the house Saturday corning at 10 o'clock conducted by Rev. Foust. She was laid to rest in the Strange Cemetery. She leaves a husband, children and a host of relatives and friends who find comfort only in the fact that their loss is her gain.

Death of Miss Mary Russ

Miss Mary Russ died Sunday afternoon at El Paso, Texas according to a telegram received by Judge Cyrus Newby on Monday morning. The telegram gave no details other than to say that by her request the interment would be made at El Paso.

Miss Russ had been in declining health for a number of years and after the death of her father, Dr. H. A. Russ, of this city, the family moved to the South-West in hopes that the climate might benefit her. For some time she seemed to improve and the bracing air of New Mexico undoubtedly added to her life's span.

Miss Russ was a cheerful and popular young lady and was highly esteemed. Even though apparently doomed by the "white plague" she was a patient and uncomplaining sufferer and was devoted to her mother, who with the one sister, are left to mourn their loss. To them goes out the sympathy of the wide circle of old friends and acquaintances.

Margaret Wilma Gall, little daughter of John Irwin and Sidney Murphy Gall opened her tiny eyes to these parents and the grandparents and the aged aunt on one bud opening morn of early smiling May the 3rd, 1918. Closed her once sparkling eyes on the morn's early hours of February the 2nd, 1921., all of her short life ended in the precious fleeting years of two, 8 mon. 29 days.

Wilma like many other precious gifts of earth in God's unerring Providence was given to the devoted parents. A transient bud on earth to bloom in Heaven, she's gone to the arm of Him, who said: "Suffer them to me" not only to His embrace on this sinful earth; but also in that Home of which, He said: "I go to prepare" for little Wilma and all that love and serve Him. It will almost seem like mockery to say here she will be missed to parents, grandparents, friends and all who knew little Wilma.

FAWLEY—McDERMOTT

Miss Clarice Fawley, the popular ticket seller at the Forum and Orpheum Theatres, and Mr. James E. McDermott, one of Hillsboro's progressive young business men, were quietly married Wednesday evening at six-thirty at the Christian Church parsonage, Rev. Crabtree officiating. Although it was known to their friends that the young folks were engaged, their marriage came as a distinct surprise to everyone.

At present they are staying at the Parker House, but in the early Spring expect to go to Detroit, where Mr. McDermott will take a position. He was formerly a partner in the McMullen and McDermott Restaurant on North High Street.

The Forum and Orpheum Theatres are getting quite a reputation as being Cupid's Headquarters, for a number of the pleasant young ladies who have officiated in the box office during the past, have resigned to take up the responsibilities of wedded life. Who'll be next?

The Funeral of Mrs. Lou Ragland who died at the home of her niece Mrs. Sydney Taylor at Pricetown was held at the South Liberty Church Saturday afternoon. Interment in the Grange Cemetery.

James Caniff Shot Himself Through The Heart Wednesday --- Illness Caused Despondency--Died Instantly-

Placing the muzzle of a 32 caliber revolver against his heart, James Caniff, proprietor of the Gilt Edge Cafe, shot and killed himself at his home in N. East Street Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The bullet passed entirely through his body and death was instantaneous. Depression and worry over imaginary troubles are presumed to have caused the despondency which lead to the sad and tragic occurrence.

Funeral services were held yesterday morning at St. Mary's Catholic Church and burial was made in the Hillsboro Catholic Cemetery.

"Jim", as he was familarily known, was 36 years of age and for some months had not been in good health. During the latter part of December he had an attack of the influenza from which he never fully recovered. He frequently complained to his friends that he was unable to sleep at night, and that he was subject to severe pains at the base of his brain.

For the past two years he had been successfully conducting the Gilt Edge Cafe and has been giving his entire time to his business. During the past few days however, he had not been feeling able to be at the Cafe constantly and Tuesday morning he remained at home with his mother, with whom he made his home. About noon he came up town and went to his place of business. He there met Charles Welbrook, an intimate friend, and told him that he was planming to take a vacation in the hope of improving his health. He asked Welbrook if he would assume the management of the Cafe and Welbrook agreed to do so. Jim also told his brother, Harry, who was associated with him in the business, of his plans, and went home.

When he reached the house he found his sister, Mrs. Harry Rogers and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Harry Caniff, visiting his mother and he told them that he was not feeling very well and was going to his room to lie down. About four-thirty the two guests prepared to leave and just as they were leaving the kitchen they heard a revolver shot in Jim's room. Rushing to the door, they entered just as he breathed his last. 2-11

He was lying in bed, with the bed clothing pulled over his head, apparently for the purpose of muffling the sound of the shot. He had removed his coat and vest and had taken off his collar and tie and hung them up. After getting into the bed and completely covering himself he had placed the muzzle of the revolver over his heart and fired. The bullet passed entirely through the body and had come out at the back.

The coroner, who was called at once, pronounced the case suicide, and there was never the slighest doubt in the matter. The revolver was a new one, 32 caliber, and had probably been purchased for this use and it had never before been fired.

The terrible shock to the sorrowing family can scarcely be imagined for Jim was a likeable chap, a kind and affectionate son and blessed with quiet, unassuming qualities that made him many warm friends. He was a plumber by trade, having formerly been assistant to James Ramsden. Since he opened the Gilt Edge Cafe, some two years ago, he had worked hard to develop his business and had built up a fine trade. He attended strictly to his own affairs, was always pleasant and courteous and as a result had a wide circle of friends who are deeply shocked over the sad occurrence.

It is thought that his illness had affected his mind for he had several times spoken of worrying over some matter, but seemed to be worrying "about the other person".

As no "other person" can be accounted for this is believed to be a halucination that indicated the state of his mind, affected by the illness. His finances were in good shape and no one knows of anything that could have been grounds for worry.

He is survived by his sorrowing mother, two brothers, Harry of this city and John of Dayton, and one sister, Mrs. Harry Rogers of this city.

A series of tragedies in the family of Attorney R. W. Beeson, one of the best known attorneys of Southwestern Iowa, culminated on January 24, when he committed suicide. Attorney Beeson is said to have been born in Leesburg, Ohio and to have gone to Iowa when a young man. The Gazette this week received the following press clipping from the DesMoines Register, and upon investigation at Leesburg we learn that in the opinion of the older residents of that village, Attorney R. W. Beeson must have been a young man of that name, who, according to recollection, was born and reared in that neighborhood and ran away from home when but a lad. The "Register" account of his tragic history and death follows:

"Ded Oak, Iowa, Jan. 24.— R. W. Beeson, one of the best known lawyers in southwestern Iowa, killed himself here this morning.

Ill health and financial difficulties are thought to have been the cause.

He pinned a note to his pillow saying: "My suffering is more than I can bear and I see no relief ahead. Good-by." The note was unsigned.

He went to the second story of the garage at his home, after building a fire in the furnace and notifying his wife that the house was warm. There he lay down on the floor and shot himself in the temple with an automatic revolver.

Mrs. Beeson, not being able to locate him when she arose, telephoned his office and to a neighbor, R. H. Reed, who discovered his body. The coroner found it a case of suicide.

Three years ago his daughter committed suicide here.

His granddaughter died on an operating table in Omaha, also, under distressing circumstances, a few years ago.

His wife, a sister in Illionis and his great grandson whom he had adopted and who is 9 years old survive him.

He was attorney for Bert McCaul. indicted for perjury in connection with his evidence in one of the ax murder cases here, and who was to be tried at Council Bluffs this week It is supposed Mr. Beeson's death will result in postponement of the case.

He was attorney in several of the cases growing out of the Villisca tragedy. He assisted the state in prosecuting the Rev. L. G. Kelly and was one of the plaintiff's attorneys in the Jones-Kilkerson slander suit.

He was born in Leesburg, Ohio, and has practised law here from the time he was admitted to the bar, almost fifty years.

Fay S. Mackerly Buried Here Sunday

Fay S. Mackerley, a former resident of Hillsboro and widely known throughout this community, died at Chicago on February 11th. The body arrived here Sunday morning and was taken to the home of his aunt, Mrs. John Hulitt, on East Walnut Street. Funeral services were held at 2:00 o'clock at the Presbyterian Church, conducted by Rev. B. F. Paist.

The services were largely attended for many old friends of the deceased and the family attended the funeral in order to bid a regretful farewell to this truly representative young man. The following sketch of Mr. Mackerley's life, written by Granville Barrere, was read at the service and is a fitting tribute to his memory.

Fay Sloane Mackerley was born at Greenfield, Ohio, Aug. 8th, 1882, and died in Chicago, Ill., February 11, 1921. He was the youngest child of Michael S. and Josephine Templin Mackerley. When Fay was four years of age the family moved to Hillsboro.

Here Faye spent his boyhood and youth. After graduating from High School he entered Ohio State University, but his health soon failed and he was compelled to give up his college but each time he started to college but each time had to discontinue his studies on account of illness and finally had to abandon his desire for a college education.

In 1903 he went to Columbus and soon after secured a position as reporter on the Columbus Dispatch. He was a born newspaper man. It was work that he loved and the work in which he was always engaged until his health gave way, except for a year spent in Hillsboro looking after his father's business.

Fay was making steady advancement in his profession when his father became afflicted and he returned to Hillsboro and took charge of his business and remained here until after his father's death. He then went to Chicago and resumed his journalistic work. There he soon established himself as an able and capable newspaper man.

About three years ago his health began to fail and a year later he was compelled to give up his work. A year ago he underwent a serious operation from which he never recovered. While a great sufferer and sorely disappointed because of inability to continue in his beloved profession, through all his sickness suffering and troubles he was cheerful and hopeful. Soon after going to Chicago his mother and sister, Miss Margaret, joined him and made their homewith him. He was devoted to them and they were to him and during his long illness they gave him that tender care that only love gives.

Fay Mackerley was one of my good friends. I knew him from his childhood on through life. He had his faults, his foibles, and his follies but possessed in an unusual degree of all the essential qualities of true manhood. Hewas honest, straightforward and dependable. He was kind, helpful and charitable. He was generous to a fault. He looked for the good in others and always found it. He loved his fellow man and was loved by his fellowman. He never intentionally did anything to hurt or injure anyone. He was a delightful companion, quick at repartee, witty and had a keen sense of humor. No matter what personal sacrifice it might require he always did his duty and did it cheerfully. To do his duty was the governing principle of his life.

There is a land, where all are equal,
And we are traveling toward it
fast;

MEMOIR

Harvey Lemon Hunter, son of Wilson and Elizabeth Hunter, was born April 5, 1867. His father died when he was a small boy. He was taken into the home of his aunt (Hannah Neal) who cared for him as one of her own until he grew to manhood. He had the privilege a few months ago of returning to that home, and helping to administer in her last illness, to one who had been a mother to him.

On Jan. 16, 1889 he was married to Anna Miller. To this union four children weregiven: Guy and Charles of Fostoria, Ohio; Lowell who lives near the home of his parents and Blanche, living at home.

Lem, as he was familiarly called, has for the last few months been failing in health, and in the lonely hours of morning, Feb. 10th, 1921, when all nature was asleep, and everything was silent, he passed away peacefully, as if he had slept his life away! He was a man of genial disposition. In sickness ever ready to lend a helping hand. A good nieghbor, a loving husband and a kind father.

The family circle is broken for the first time. One vacant chair. The one who sat in that chair will not be missed by the family only, but by the community at large. He leaves to mourn his loss a wife, four children, two grand-children, his aged mother and sister. Besides a host of relatives and friends.

GRANDPAS' DAYS

Things ain't what they uster be
In dear old grandpa's day.
When butcher's sold the "cheaper cuts"
And gave the bones away.
When Granndpa bought a suit o' clothes—
Suspenders? They were free.
Price was sixteen ninety-eight
In eighteen ninety-three.
Grandpa had a bank account
Of some amount, they say.
But things ain't what they uster b
In dear old grandpa's day.
Grandpa'd get quite frolicksome
And see a burlesque show.
That's where we can smile at him
He had to pay to go.
We just walk down the avenue.
The boulevard or street.
There is no musical comedy.
That offers such a treat.
All the charms pulcritudinous
Are daily on display,
For gowns ain't what they uster b
In dear old grandpa's day.

LOVE'S LABOR LOST

She stood beneath the mistletoe,
But her fond hope
was blighted.
Because the poor girl didn't know
The feller was near-sighted.

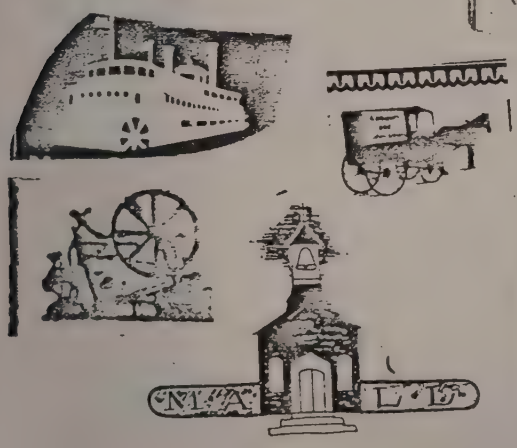
Another thing the bride should learn is that the way her husband wants her to press his trousers is not by sitting in his lap.

Some people seem to be satisfied if they can keep others from having a good time.

Mr. and Mrs.—Orpha Roush and daughter Thelma spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Clint Roush.



Creation of a Woman

(Washington Times)

According to a Hindu legend the god Vulcan created the world. When he started on woman he found he had used up all available materials, but knew that the world would be nothing without women, so he took—

The roundness of the moon,
The undulating curve of the serpent,
The graceful twist of the creeping plant,
The slenderness of the willow,
The velvet of the flowers,
The gentle gaze of the doe,
The frolicsome reflection of the dancing sunbeam,
The tears of the cloud,
The inconsistency of the wind,
The timidity of the hare,
The vanity of the peacock,
The hardness of the diamond,
The chill of the snow,
The cooing of the turtle dove,

All these he combined to form this glorious being. —Woman.

What Made Father Sore

A village girl eloped in her father's clothes. The next day the local paper came out with an account of the elopment, headed— "Flees In Father's Pants." (Ladies Home Journal)

LATTICE TO LET!

Otis Titus used to notice
That his giddy goddess, Lotus,
Didn't care so much to gad as
Seek the shadows with her Otis.
Then upspoke this Otis Titus
"Let us build a lattice, Lotus;
Lotus, yet us have a lattice;
Where no spying eye could spot us."
Lotus answered: "Let us! Let Us"
"When the moon had lit us, Lotus,
In the lattice we could seat us
And the world would never notice
For the lattice would delete us."
"Clad with leaves as lightas lettuce
We would have this lattice, Lotus,
Where the bee would come to loot us.
And the glow worm like us gratis,
But no leering brute could noot us,
And no Brutus could get at us.
Lotus, let us have a lattice".
'Otis, let us," answered Lotus.
(C. L. Edson in N. Y. Tribune).

GOOD BOY

Yesterday I was walking
Along a slippery
Street, and a very
Snappy-looking girl in Front of me, with
Pretty silk stockings
Slipped and fell. I ran
To help her, but just then
I remembered that I
Had been taught never
To pick up a girl, so I
"Let'er lay."

"Making a Silk Purse, Etc."

Greenfield exchanges during the past week contain items of interest to all towns in Southern Ohio interested in athletics.

The Republican comments as follows:

"One of Greenfield's most loved citizens, Coach Duke Hayes, leads the team and the boys all follow as they wend their way down the aisle of the First Baptist Church on Sunday evening, where special seats were reserved for the Basket Ball Boys and their ladies.

"The Orchestra of nine splendid players entertained the large audience which was in attendance.

"Dr. Hofmeister preached a brief but snappy sermon on the theme "The Temper of Christ.' He praised the team as one of the cleanest and most manly groups he has ever witnessed on the field of action.

"A poem, 'The Victory of McClain' was read and received by a hearty approval of those present."

In another item the Republican says:

"Mrs. Fannie Briggs entertained the Victory Boys at a banquet dinner Sunday at twelve. The decorations were carried out in colors of purple and gold. Streamers draped from the electric dome to the beautiful silver trophy which graced the center of the table. Coach Hayes was in the chair of honor and after prayer by Rev. Hofmeister the boys were seated and a happy hour followed."

The Independent gives the following:

"On Sunday at their hospitable home on Jefferson Street the Misses Blaine tendered a dinner to the members of the basket ball team and their friends in the recognition of their victorious record for the series of games just ended. As the central decoration of the table stood the magnificent silver cup which now becomes the permanent trophy of McClain High School. Beside it stood a beautiful floral design the gift of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Moehlenpage, while trailing ribbons from the chandelier displayed the purple and gold. Capt. Paul Smith, Curtis Bumgarner, Robert Stroup, Bud Armstrong and Howard Robinson, the members of the team, displayed the same valor at the banquet that won their victories on the hard contested field. Rev. Theodore Hofmeister, Coach Hayes and Dr. Hurd lent dignity to the occasion by their presence. Homer Watts, Carlton Mitchell, Calvin Stroup and Carl Speckman completed the lineup which did ample justice to the culinary skill for which this home is famous."

Our readers are no doubt wondering what the Greenfield boys did to numb their consciences while they were accepting these lavish favors from innocent friends.

MEMOIR

John Bratton Allison, who passed out of this life in the early morning of Feb. 20th, 1921, at his home near Louden, Adams County, was born near Belfast, Highland County, Mar. 30th, 1837. His long and useful life was spent within a few miles of his birthplace. When but a lad he worked for a maternal uncle, John Bratton, on the same farm where he died.

Nov. 3rd, 1859 he was married to Hannah Susannah Hughes, daughter of Peter Love Hughes, of the Louden neighborhood. They established their home near that of his uncle John Bratton, and he had full charge of his affairs until his death; being indeed a loyal son to this childless uncle and aunt.

Three sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Allison, J. F., Charles C., and James B. Allison.

The sons preceeded him in death, the wife, but six months younger than he, the widows of the three sons and five grandchildren are left to remember his long and useful life and the great love and care he gave to them. Mrs. Allison has the remarkable experience of having seen seven generations on her mother's side and six on that of her father.

Having but the education gained in the public schools of his youth, Mr. Allison determined to give to his sons the benefit of a higher education, sending each through college. Two, Frank and James, being business men, both dying young. Charles became a famous surgeon, ranking as one of the best two in the western U. S. Dr. Charles C. Allison had traveled widely and by his acquirements by travel and study, added to the education given by his parents he became an authority upon all questions connected with his profession, dying but a few years ago.

J. B. Allison was a man of probity and of great worth to his community, as well as to his family. His judgement in public and private matters was accepted without question and he was the general adviser in and arbiter of affairs in his community. Loving his home first, for the married life of Mr. and Mrs. Allison was ideal, he did not seek public honors, but from a sense of duty accepted the nomination from the democratic party and served as county commissioner, and in other offices of trust.

The great confidence of his friends was demonstrated by the constant calls upon his services in settling estates and in adjusting other matters without taking them into court, he having administered the largest two estates in the county.

His impress as a farmer will always be felt as his farm was a model one. The carefully kept fences, the well tilled ground, the absolute neatness and cleanliness of the surroundings of house and barns attracted the attention of all who passed.

His funeral was held in St. Mary's Catholic Church and interment made in the Catholic cemetery at Hillsboro. After his long and useful life he rests in peace and his life's work continues to do good.

Editor's Note:

Mr. Allison was one of the oldest subscribers to the Gazette having read it regularly from early manhood.

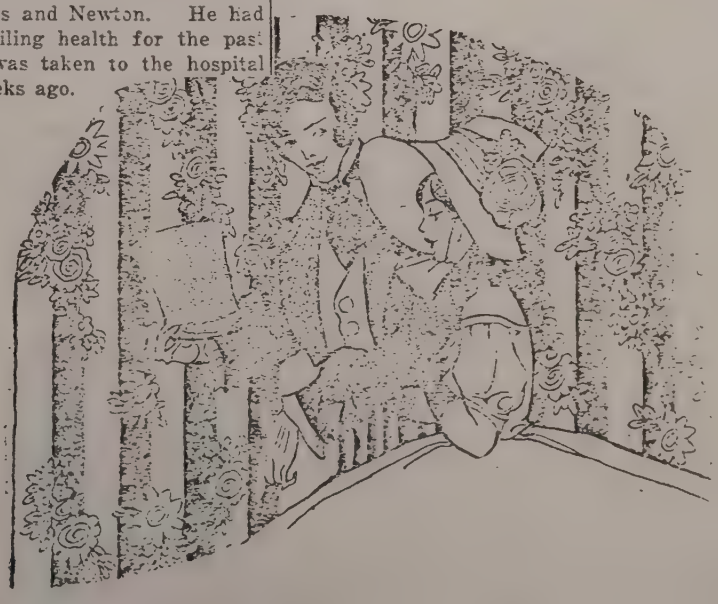
The ceremony will be witnessed by a small company of near relatives and intimate friends of the bride and the marriage service will be read by Rev. B. F. Paist of the Presbyterian Church. The ring ceremony will be used and the wedding march will be played by Miss Mary Evans a relative of the bride.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy young couple will leave for a short honeymoon trip after which they will be at home on Mr. Hunnicutt's farm near Middletown, Ohio.

Miss Evans is the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evans, and is an unusually pretty, charming young lady of many accomplishments. She is a true Hillsboro girl, a graduate of the local High School and of Paul Institute at Washington D. C., and her many attributes of character and practical business ability in addition to her personal charm make her a prize that Mr. Hunnicutt is to be heartily congratulated on winning.

The prospective groom is a product of Wilmington College and Ohio State University and is a very capable young man of demonstrated ability and character. He is the only son of Mrs. W. A. Eudaly of Middletown and is quite well known here as he has often visited in Hillsboro, where he has many warm friends.



Big Birthday Party

In honor of Mrs. Nancy Cochran's 80th Anniversary of her birthday Feb 20th the children and grandchildren and loved ones met at her home to remind her that she had reached another milestone. A sumptuous dinner was served. Oneof the features of the dinner was the large cake with 80 candles on it.

One feature of the day was the reading given in her honor, at church and later at her home, by her granddaughter, Gertrude Whitley was as follows:—

At this time I wish to say that today is the 80th Anniversary of my Grandmother's birthday and that she is theonly charter member of this church living in this community. She is one who helped to make this much loved Sunday School and Church what it is today and gave us the opportunity and lessened the trials which the older members of this church passed thru.

At the close of this service the children, grandchildren and loved ones will gather at her home to remind her that she has reached another milstone. It is with the dearest delight that she greets her loved ones.

Her brown eyes, once so brilliant are now but sightless orbs to her.

In her land of never ending shadows the voice of a loved one is dear to her.

It reminds me of a tune when my grandfather was living and I was sitting on his knee listening to him tell of olden days when I asked him "What my Grandmother looked like when a girl", and he answered "She was the bird of the town, She had the most beautiful brown eyes and hair that he ever saw."

It also reminds me of a little poem I will now recite to you entitled "Grandmother's Face".

Eyes that are brilliant and brown
Gaze from a minature where
Youth that is joyous to view
Throw out a spell to ensnare.
Gallants she had, and to spart,
Life moved a swift running pace
When she was girlish and fair;
Such was my grandmother's face.
Years fluttered by, as they do;
Next is a print by Dagerre
Picturing womanhood true;
Love, joy and sorrow are there,
Wifehood, with courage to dare,
Motherhood, too—so I trace
Loveliness softened by care;
Such was my grandmother's face.
Then there's the face that I know,
Smiling from Grandmother's chair;
Wrinkled, yet beautiful, too,
Dainty as porcelain ware;
Crowned with her silver—white hair
Under it's cap of old lace—
Worn to the last with an air—
Such is my grandmother's face.
I thank you.

All returned to their homes wishing to her many more happy Birthdays.

The news of his death come as a great shock to his many friends here, as it was not generally known that he was ill. Some years ago Mr. Polk was a deputy in the Probate Court under Judge Oliver H. Hughes and during his stay here won many warm friends and earned the respect and esteem of the entire community. Following his term of office here he was connected with the Ford Motor Co., of Detroit in a responsible position, but his health began to fail about two years ago, forcing him to give up his position early this winter. After a short visit with his parents he was forced to seek a rarer climate ,but the ravages of the dread white plague had made too great inroads to be overcome and death soon claimed him.

He was just in the prime of life, being but 44 years of age and it is indeed sad that he had to be taken when his career was reaching its peak.

OBITUARY

Mary Elizabeth Hill daughter of H. C. and Sarah Willams born Jan. 29. 1863, died Feb, 16, 1921, aged 58 years 17 days. She obeyed the Gospel and united with the Church of Christ at Mt. Zion in about the year 1878. She was united in marriage to James Hill Dec. 13, 1882. He preceeded her in death, Sept. 24, 1916. To this union were born three, Iva Olive, Charles Homer, and Ethel Grace. Charles died Oct. 6th, 1893. After marriage, she went with her husband to the M. E. Church and ever lived a devoted life. She was never a loud professor, but ever a true liver. She had been in poor health for several years and son Jan 23rd, submitted to the amputation of a foot. On Feb. 9th, she fractured a hip and Feb 16th death released her from the torturesshe had so patiently borne. Her home was a hospitable home, where friends and neighbors rejoiced to come and were loath to leave. Her greatest fault, if it be a fault, was her sacrifice of self upon the altar of service for those she loved. Her sufferings were long and severe, but she bore them in meekness and true Christian fortitude. And we trust that she like her Savior was made perfect through suffering. We know that she is gone, yet it is hard to believe that mother is no more, kind, noble, generous-mother. Our defender and friend always our confident, the one to whom we could always go with our petitions and find a listening ear is no more.

The hand that smoothed the troubled brow and wiped away the tear is crossed in death. The voice that sang sweet lullabies to us in childhood is settled in death.

You are gone but no forgotten. You who for years traveled the path of married life with a kind and patient husband over the hills of adversity and thru the valleys of happiness today plucking a flower and tomorrow a thorn but always the same. Your memory shall be cherished and when the dark clouds of adversity come, we know that mother's spirit will be near us and while she can not speak to us, yet be near to guide ur footsteps and lead us to a better life.

MAR. 18, 1921

The following letter and poem from Mrs. Bertha Ludwick Hibler of Gillette, Wyoming, will be of special interest to her old friends and school mates in this county to whom she addresses the message, care of the Gazette.

Gillette, Wyoming,
March 8, 1921.

Editor Gazette:

It has been many years since I sent an item to your paper. But while looking through some local newspapers I found a little poem which I am enclosing, as I thought some of my friends and school mates of by-gone years might enjoy reading it.

So I am sending it to your paper, and if you care to you may publish it and tell any old friends or school mates that if they will write me I will gladly send them some of our county papers, which I think they would enjoy reading. Love and good wishes to all.

Bertha Ludwick Hibler.

The poem, which is dedicated to "Miss Gillette", follows:

What's the use in roamin' from New York to Puget Sound, a lookin' for a place to build your home and settle down, when the "middle west" is bulgin' with the things that lead to wealth, where the sky is full of sunshine and the air is full of health? What's the use of livin' in the north with polar bears, or in the south with centipedes, horned toads and prickly pears, or in the eastern cities where folks are so bloomin wise that men never get acquainted, not even with their wives; where their lives are all stampeded with the grafters' wily pranks, from the tiny little cradle to the published "card of thanks"?? What's the use in mixin' in their pot of boiling stew, when the "middle west" is holdin' out her lovin' arms to you? What's the use of rentin' and a givin' all you raise to your landlord on the sea shore where he spends his idle days, while your wife's out in the kitchen in the work up to her nose a savin' every dime she can to buy her winter clothes, while your landlord's wife and daughter, sit at ease and sip their tea, listenin' to the music of the troubled rolling sea? What's the use to be contented with a renter's weary lot, when the "middle west" is offerin' you the very best she's got? What's the use in spendin' all your days on rented soil, when the "middle west" is dotted with her spoutin' well of oil? She has enough to run the world a thousand years or more, and now's the time for you to heed the knocking at your door; and those who heed her knocking now, in future, if your please, will be the ones to feast and dine beside the singing sea.

Letter From Wyoming

Wyoming is the axle in the center of the hub, and will be the "leadin' lady" till we all return to mud. And there's a city in the makin' in Wyoming's very best; you can see her future bloomin' in the middle of the west. She keeps her ears uncovered and was never known to nap, and her eyes are always open for her place upon the map. She has a host of "brothers" who are with her tooth and nail, and for her good name and future every one will go her bail. Her brothers are all "live wires" and a bustin" most with "pep", who will stake their last blue pile of chips on sister, "Miss Gillette."

Now if you think we're bulffin' and skeer'd to show our hand, just cash yer little bank roll and stroll around to see our land. No matter how much coin you got nor how high you place your bet, you will find a lad to call you, in the City of Gillette.

O. S. Purton.

She was the eldest child of six children and her passing away being the first to break the Family Circle.

She became a member of the Christian Church at Harwood, Ohio, at an early age under the Ministry of E. G. Walk.

She has lived an examplary life, living for the good she could bestow on others. Whenever she could and to whom she could. She was characteristic. In love and respect she held for the aged and feeble, she always had a smile and a hearty handshake where ever she chanced to meet them.

She leaves to mourn their loss a Husband, Father, Mother, Two Brothers: Fred of Washington C. H., Thompson of Hillsboro; and three sisters; Mrs. Harry Ellis of Detroit Mich., Mrs. Frank Dodson of Princetown, and Mrs. Harry Shafar of Middletown. She will be sadly missed by all, and especially the latter sister with whom their lives have been inseperable, and with whom she has made her home for many years.

It was she that ministered all the loving hands could do until that Immortal spirit called her away from her loved ones.

Oh, so sad and sudden was the call,
To the one that was dearly loved by us all
There was no chance to say farwell
To her dear ones, she loved so well.
Just the crossing of the river,
Just the stepping on the shore
Where the joys of life eternal
Will be her's forever more.

Silently the shades of evening
Gather round our lonely door,
Silently it brings before us
That dear face we see no more.
Peaceful be thy sleep, dear Hattie
It is sweet to breathe thy name,
In life we dearly loved you,
In death we do the same.

MOSES-SWAN

(Greenfield Independent)

"The joyous peals of wedding bells rang merrily out on Evans street on Monday evening announcing the happy bridal hour that joined in willing bonds two souls with but a single thought, two hearts that beat as one.

The beautiful sentiment that none but the brave deserve the fair was seldom more fitting exemplified than when Mrs. Emma Moses, of Waldon, W. Va., was led as a blushing bride to the altar by Mr. Maholn C. Swan, one of Greenfield's best known citizens and whose name is a household name in every home.

The bride who is only a recent addition to Greenfield social circles has made her homein the family of Mr. Horace Huff. It was there that her full-blown charms, heightened and not dimmed by the flight of fifty-eight brief rose-crowned summers, first won the heart of Greenfield's veteran citizen whose breast still throbs with all the fire of youthful vigor. At an age of 84 this sturdy patriot, valiant soldier of the Civil War, and intimate friend of Abraham Lincoln, retains the elastic step and bounding spirit of enthusiasm that belonged to the days of '61 when he marched forth with his musket on his shoulder to do battle for the cause of the union and of freedom.

The legal rite that joined the happy pair for weal or woe was performed in the Probate Court on Monday, April 4th, the ceremony being performed by Squire West, a civil magistrate. On their retun to the home of the groom the bridal pair was tendered a reception and serenade by the neighbors of the younger set, and the musical selections while not always in the fullest harmony were not lacking in energy, force and volume. Mr. and Mrs. Swan are today receiving the congratulations of hosts of friends who wish them the enjoyment of their present connubial felicity.'

The Fifth Separate Company of the Ohio National Guard held its first drill in the Armory on Wednesday night and the full roster was present when the roll was called.

Practically all of the men have now been measured for uniforms and Captain Thomas is anxiously awaiting their arrival.

Sudden Death Of Mrs. Charles Hodson

Mrs. Charles Hodson, aged 39, died suddenly Monday morning at her home near New Vienna from hemorhage of the brain. Coroner Leatherman was called and found that death had resulted from natural causes.

He was taken to the hospital by Robert Frech, 2364 Clifton avenue, who informed thepolice that he picked the injured man up in the road. MEMOIR

Leaves have their time to fall,
And wither at the northwinds breath;
But all Seasons have thee, for thine own,
O! Death.

Born near New Vienna, Ohio, July 12, 1851, of Carey and Rebecca J. Clark, eldest daughter of a family of ten children, Salina, A. Clark, and was married to Robert Daisley, Aug. 12, 1877, by Rev. W. D. Moore, a personal friend of both, and who has long since passed to his reward.

Three children came to bless their union; the oldest a baby girl dying in infancy; the other two daughters who sorrow for this good mother are Mrs. Maud Lemon, of Hillsboro and Mrs. Myra Cochran of Russell. Three grandchildren, Ruth and Helen Cochran and Bernhard Lemon who had a warm place in the heart of their dear grandmother and always enjoyed their visits at her home.

In early life Mrs. Daisley confessed Christ as her Savior and became a member of the Christian Church at New Vienna under the membership of Rev. T. G. Garvin; there she retained her membership until some years ago she with her husband became members of the Congregation at Liberty Chapel, where she remained until her death. But now from the church record one more name must be erased and with saddened heart, some one will write 'dead" after our sister's name. So one after another we pass from the scenes of this life to join the great majority on the other side.

After her marriage, Mrs. Daisley came as a happy bride to their home one mile South of Fairview where they lived for thirteen years. Thirty years ago she with her family moved to the present home, where she has lived a quiet, happy and contented life, loving and beautifying her home, for she was a true home-maker, and where she won the respect, love and esteem of a host of friends and neighbors by her kind, loving heart, for she was a good neighbor and her home was a happy place to visit and her many friends always found a warm welcome there.

On the occasion of her 69th or last birthday, her two daughters, her two sisters, Mrs. Ida Hilderbrant of New Vienna and Mrs. John West of near Farmer's Station, and her four brothers, Alf, Frank, Jeff and Job all of near New Vienna with their families gave her a happy surprise, by coming to the home and spending a delightful day with her and her husband; a day never to be forgotten by those dear ones left and will be cherished memory in their lives; the last time they spent a day together, and ere' long all will look back on the stay she has been to them in time of sorrow or trouble; affectionate, loyal helpful and true in the highest degree.

Mrs. Daisley had at times expressed herself that when her Heavenly Father should call her, she would go quietly and quickly; her desire was granted. After the close of the day's duties on March 9th, 1921, and after a friendly call on a near neighbor in company with her husband she wended her way home. Within a few minutes, without any premonition apparently and free from any struggle, she sank to her couch and Salina Clark Daisley closed her eyes to open them no more to her loved ones on earth. The news flashed over the wires at near the midnight hour came as a great shock to her daughters, sisters, brothers and friends.

The time will come when you will long for the touch of hands that have turned to dust, and sight for the voice that is still. You will miss her and grieve for her; yet in the midst of your sorrow and loneliness you should rejoice that you have had such a jewel in your keeping.

And now farewell to this dear wife, mother, sister and friend until we meet again.

John Hawk was a Wednesday and Thursday visitor in Miamisburg and was accompanied home by the aged grandmother, 85 years, Mrs. Margaret Faris, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. George Thompson and sister-in-law, Mrs. Clyde Hall and niece. After a few days visit they went to Pricetown.

Death of Mrs. Baker

Mrs. Louisa Baker, aged 69 years was found dead in her bed Sunday morning at six o'clock.

Mrs. Baker while not in good health has not been feeling any worse than usual and when she retired Saturday night after an active day about the house, she apeared to be in her usual spirits. About six o'clock Sunday morning her daughter, Miss Ada, was called to the telephone where she received a message for her mother. Upon entering the latter's bed chamber to deliver the message she found her mother dead.

The physicians are of the opinion that she had passed away while sleeping, but a few hours before.

It will be recalled by old residents that about thirty years ago Mr. Baker died suddenly of heart failure, while at work. Mrs. Baker reared and educated her family of daughters and two of them, Misses Ada and Mary have always remained with her. One daughter, Myrta, died shortly after the family moved here from Greenfield and three daughters are married, Mrs. Charles Hatcher of this city, Mrs. McLaughlin of near Cynthiana, and Mrs. McWilliams of Greenfield.

Charles Engebrand, Sr., aged 77 years, died at his home in St. Paul, Minn., last Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Death resulted from chronic stomach trouble.

Nearly 55 years ago Mr. Engebrand came to Hillsboro and opened a meat market in the rooms on North High Street now occupied by the Gabriel Market. He remained here some forty years and during that time made many lasting friendships and became an active member of St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

L. Phillip Shawe, a former Hillsboro boy, but late of Providence, R. I., has accepted a most flattering offer from the North Western University, at Evanston, Ills., a suburb of Chicago, and on the first of next September will become Head of the Vocal Department of the University. The position carries with it a salary of $7,500. per year, with studio and piano furnished. The tendering of this position to Mr. Shawe places him in the class of the $10,000. a year man, for the University term is only nine months. This gives him an extra three months in the summer, which he will undoubtedly utilize in concert and recital work, with the approval of the University Heads who are really anxious that he do this. Consequently he will be able to largely add to his salary in this manner.

Mr. Shawe has reached the top ranks of his profession by dint of hard, earnest effort, the overcoming of great obstacles and the faculty of always keeping his goal in front of him, thus never giving up, although often temporarily delayed in his progress.

He has secured the best instruction of this country afforded and also has studied under Franz Emrich of Berlin, where he was when the World War started. He then returned to this country and during the war was song leader at Camp Devon, Mass. Since locating in Providence he has appeared in practically all of the leading cities of the country, especially those in the East, where his recitals have been most highly praised by the critics. He is a member of the Harvard Musical Association and the Boston Art Club, and his rise in the musical world has been little short of marvelous, considering the great obstacles he had to over-come in a financial sense. He was blessed with a wonderful voice, in which he had confidence and to the unbounded pleasure of his many friends, his confidence has been justified.

The B. of A. Met in regular session on Friday evening, and employed the following teachers. Danville—Alva Emery; White—Miss Josephine Cailey; East Danville— Jake Ludwick; Earr—Miss Anna Hasting; Stroup—Miss Rissa Walker; Strange —Mrs. Albert Davison.

OBITUARY

Jesus said: "Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of God."

So Jesus who doeth all things well, reached down with his arms of love and gently severed the golden chain of love which bound this happy family and plucked a little rose bud. Geraldine Wahnetta Williams, daughter of Albert and Ella Williams was born May the 18th, 1919 died March the 28th, 1921, aged 1 yr. 10 mo. and 10 days. She leaves papa and mamma and four little sisters, Velma, Fay, Georgia, and Mattie, who will miss so much the prattle of baby's voice and the love and sunshine she brought into their home. But the Good Shepherd knew best and only gathered an other lamb to his fold.

Surely this was an early sunset of a sweet little life which had only begun to open up as a bud in springtime to send its bright rays into a world of thought and affection. But God doeth all things best, and by the passing of this little lamb has only brought the gates of Heaven nearer.

In this business he formed a large acquaintance and was held in high esteem by all, having a reputation for square dealing and strict honesty. He was a kind and loving father, a considerate husband, and ideal business man, and an earnest Christian.

He became affiliated with the M. E. Church at Dodsonville under Rev. Brigg's pastorate, and ever afterwards took and active part in the church activities there, being Supt. of the Sabbath School and teacher for several years.

He was always interested in civic improvements, being a leader in the War Chest campaign in Salem twp.

He was a member of two fraternal Societies, the B. P. O. E. and the Modern Woodmen and did his best to live up to the high teachings of those orders.

About New Year's Day, he contracted the influenza and seemed to be convalescing nicely, getting along fine when complications arose. Six weeks ago he was taken to Cincinnati and gradually grew worse until the end.

He suffered very much the last week of his life, but was optimistic until the very end, but stated that if it was necessary that he die, that he was at peace and ready to go.

"Sunset and evening star
And one clear call to me,
And many there be no moaning of the bar
When I put out to sea,

Twilight and evening bell
And after that the dark,
And may there be no moaning of farewell when I embark,

For though from out the bourne of Time and Place
The floods may bear me far,
I hope to see My Pilot face to face,
When I have crossed the bar."

The funeral was held at the home on west South Street.

Rev. J. N. Eason and Rev. S. C. Steele conducted the service and the eight nephews were pall bearers.

Burial was made in Hillboro Cemetery.

Death of D. C. Holmes

Mr. David Corwin Holmes, aged 76, died at his home in Leesburg on Sunday. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon and intermen

Leesburg lost its oldest citizen last week when Aunt Cynthia Johnson, aged, almost 97 years, passed away. Despite her advanced years her life has been almost entirely blessed by good health and activity, but during the past winter has failed greatly, the family believing that the shock of the death of her daughter, Mrs. Ella Van Pelt, having hastened her decline. She was confined to her bed about four months.

Mrs. Johnson was in many ways a remarkable woman and her memory was unusually accurate and reliable. For years she has been a reliable source of information concerning dates of happenings, persons and other matters. She was a member of the Methodist Church. Since 1847 she has been a resident of Leesburg, her husband passing away in 1900.

The close surviving relatives, says the Leesburg Citizen, are: Two sisters Mrs. Mary Stafford of Washington C. H., and Mrs. Hulda Patton, of Powell, Wyoming; Four children Mrs. Marjorie Spear, of Cumberland, Ind., Ray Johnson, of Watts, California. Horace Johnson of Memphis, Tenn; and Fred Johnson of Los Angeles, Calif. There are in addition six grandchildren and ten great grandchildren.

Lieut. Thomas Griffin Expected Home Soon

A Cablegram from Junior Lieutenant Thomas Griffin was received Tuesday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Griffin. The message was sent from Gibralter, where Lieutenant Griffin's ship, the "Olympia" called on her extended voyage. The dispatch stated that they were leaving Gibralter on Wednesday evening and expected to dock at Philadelphia navy yard on the 22nd.

This is the last voyage for the famous old "Olympia", which achieved such fame back in '98 when she proudly bore Admiral Dewey into Manila Harbor. When she arrives in Philadelphia she will be put out of commission. Owing to the fact that this will necessitate the assignment of her full complement of officers and men to other ships, which is a slow job, Mr. and Mrs. Griffin expect that Lieutenant Griffin will be allowed a nice leave of absence and will shortly arrive in Hillsboro for a visit with "the folks".

Night Watchman Found Dead At Safe Foundry

Morgan Lemon, aged 73, night watchman at the Gross-Feibel Plant was found dead Monday morning when John Cooper, the first man of the day force to arrive, entered the plant. The coroner was immediately called and found that death had resulted from a cerebral hemmorhage which had probably occurred before seven o'clock on Sunday evening.

Mr. Lemon for some time has been employed as night watchman at the foundry and it was his habit to come to the plant in the late afternoon and to eat his lunch early in the evening. For some days he had not been feeling well, and last Sunday, when he started for the plant about 1 o'clock he told a friend whom he met, that he thought he had indigestion, as he was feeling rather ill. About two o'clock Mr. Vaughn saw him at the foundry and at that time he seemed to be in his usual health.

In the morning however, his body was found, cold and stiff, lying in the aisle. His lunch was untouched, his lantern unlighted and none of the lights in the shop had been turned on. Consequently it is believed that he was stricken with the fatal attack before it had become dark enough to require lights.

The body was taken to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Henry Priest, with whom he lieved and funeral services were held at the house at 3:00 on Wednesday afternoon. Interment was made in the Hillsboro Cemetery. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Henry Priest, and two grandchildren.

Mrs. Amy Roberds Died Very Suddenly

Mrs. Alpha Norma Roberds, aged 34, died very suddenly at her home on the Danville pike near town, at about 2 o'clock Sunday morning, after an illness lasting only about two hours.

Although Mrs. Roberds had not been robust for some years her health was as usual until Saturday afternoon when she told her daughter that she was not feeling well and did not care for any supper. She also told her sister, Mrs. Don Asher, who spent Saturday afternoon with her, that she was not feeling as well as usual. However, in the evening she seemed to be feeling much better and was in good spirits when she retired.

About midnight she awoke her husband, saying that she was feeling ill and wanted some water. He immediately arose and attended to her wants, but noticed that she seemed to be getting sicker and decided to call a doctor. Mrs. Roberds agreed that a physician be summoned saying that she was very ill.

A physician was summoned and as soon as he arrived saw that she was sinking fast and was beyond help. Her parents were then summoned and another doctor called for consultation, but nothing could be done for her and she passed away before her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Estel Mullenix and her sister, Mrs. Don Asher, reached the Roberds home.

She is survived by her husband and a little daughter, Sina. Funeral services were held Tuesday at Prospect Church, conducted by Rev. J. N. Eason and burial was made at the Prospect Cemetery.

Mrs. Roberds was a most estimable and popular woman and a host of friends sadly miss her and extend their deepest sympathy to the bereaved family.

OBITUARY OF PERRY NAYLOR

F. Perry Naylor, son of William and Nancy (Woolums) Naylor was born in Adams County, Ohio, November 24th, 1841, and passed away at his home in New Vienna, Ohio, May 4th, 1921, aged 79 years, 5 months and 10 days.

He was a fourth child in a family of 10 children, five of whom had preceded him to the Great Beyond

In early youth he came with his parents to Highland County, Ohio., where he attended, for a time, the public schools of the Country and engaged in farm labor.

Some months after the breaking out of the Civil War in the United States between the North and the South, and before he had reached the age of 21 years he went out in defense of the "Stars and Stripes" and to fight for the preservation and perpetuity of the union of states. Enlisting in Company L., 2nd Regiment, Ohio Cavalry, on the 9th day of October, 1862 to serve 3 years or during the continuance of the war, and after almost 3 years of faithful service and duty well performed beneath the Starry folds of "Old Glory", he received an honorable discharge from service , on July 13th, 1865, at Columbus, Ohio, returned home and again entered the peaceful pursuits of life.

Soon after his return home from the scenes of blood-shed and Carnage through which he had safely passed he was united in marriage with Sarah L. Bryan of near Hillsboro, Ohio.

To this happy union four children were born, three of whom died in early childhood, soon after the death of their mother, who passed away June 17th, 1880 at the age af 35 years, 8 months and 18 days.

Perry Naylor was again married December 28th, 1882—this time to Elizabeth Carey of near Careytown, Ohio. This couple trod life's pathway together through, sickness and health, through sunshine and shadow for almost two score years, or long past the allotted 3 score years and 10. To this union no children were born.

Sometime in the early seventies he united with the M. E. Church at Auburn Chapel where for a number of years he attended church services and the worship of God, but owing to poor health and advanced age, for a number of years he had been unable to attend religious services as in days gone by.

In the passing of Perry Naylor, he left a faithful, devoted wife and true friend, two brothers and two sisters—Dawson Naylor of Columbus, Ohio; Rev. J. S. Naylor, Miss Elizabeth Naylor, and Mrs. Elvira Runk of Hillsboro, Ohio; one daughter, Mrs. Marie McDaniel of Madisonville, Ohio; and seven grandchildren, besides a host of other relatives and friends to mourn their loss, but their loss, we trust, is his eternal gain.

He passed away quietly and peacefully, and has gone to meet his God and loving Savior, to receive his eternal reward in the Mansions of the blest.

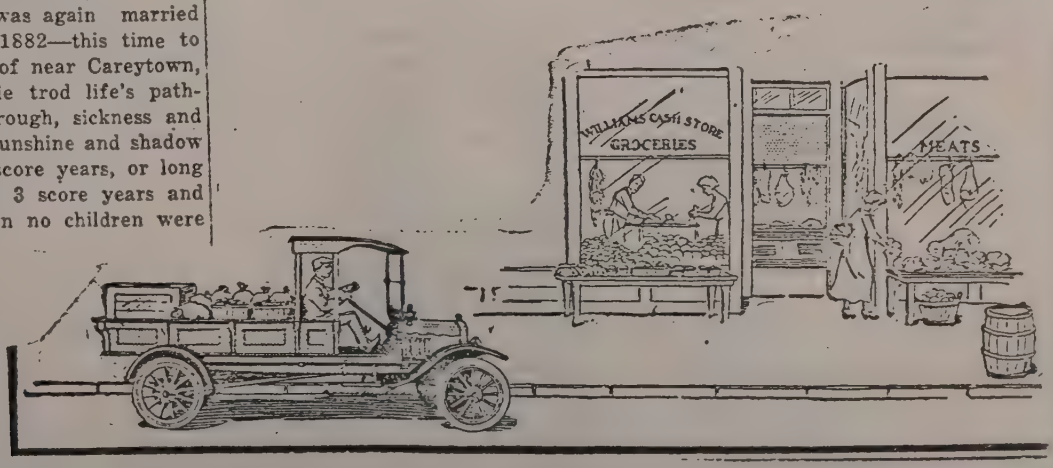
Highland County Soldier's Body Being Brought Home

The body of Andrew R. Thompson, a member of old Company D., who fell overseas, will probably reach New York tomorrow, according to word received by the local post of the American Legion. From New York the body will be brought to Peebles and from there taken to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson of Sinking Spring, where funeral services will be held some time next week, depending upon the date of the arrival of the body.

Members of Company D. will recall that Andrew R. Thompson and his two brothers were all in the service, and that Andrew and one brother went overseas, the other brother being in the hospital at Camp Sheridan for a long time.

Through the perversity of fate it was Andrew's lot to fall while bravely fighting in Belgium, on the day of the signing of the Armistice.

The Hillsboro Post of the American Legion will furnish pall bearers and a bugler and no doubt the greater part of the membership will attend the services to pay their last respects to their brave comrade in arms.



The Class of 1921 of the Hillsboro High School is very busy this week preparing for the Commencement, the Class Play, the Baccalaureate Sermon and all the other miscellaneous functions that mark the close of their High School life.

The Hillsboro Schools will close Thursday of next week and Sunday, May 22nd, the Baccalaureate Sermon at the Presbyterian Church will inaugurate the Graduation Exercises for the Seniors. Complete program of the Baccalaureate exercises will be found in another column.

The commencement exercises will be held at Bell's Opera House on Thursday night, May 26th, and the Class Address will be delivered by Professor Frank Dwyer of Boston, Mass., former Superintendent of the Cincinnati Schools. Supt. Jackson is most fortunate in having secured Dr. Dwyer as he is regarded as one of the most able educators in the United States. His address will undoubtedly be one of the most helpful, scholarly and interesting ever given in Hillsboro. On the same program with Dr. Dwyer will appear Joseph Miller, who will give the Class Oration, and Miss Erma Liggett, who will present the Class History. Langley's Orchestra will furnish the music and Professor Jackson will announce the honor members of the class.

The Class play will be presented on either Wednesday evening, May 25th or Friday evening, May 27th. Full details regarding "The Lion and The Mouse", the class play, are given in another article in this issue.

The 1921 Class is unusual indeed as it is evenly divided between the boys and girls, their being 19 of each. This is also the largest class ever graduating from Hillsboro High School, the 38 members of the present class establishing a new record. The class roll is:

Catherine Barrere, Gladys Bean, Frederick Bennett, Elmer Brown, Elmer Chaplin, Ruby Custer, Oakley Davies, Osa Doss, Helen Eubanks, Maurice Frump, Leona George, Harold Granger, Howard Haines, Warren Hicks, Leone Holladay, Bernadine Johnson, Paul Joseph, Vernon Juillerat, Erma Liggett, Charles McMullen, Joseph Miller, Mabel Murphy, Helen Pope, James Ramsden, Walter Rhoten, Olive Roads, Mary Roads, John Scarborough, Dorothy Roberds, John Stout, Bessie Soals, Myrtle Thornburg. "NORMALCY"

The farmer sat in his easy chair,
Smoking his pipe of clay;
While his good old wife
Was counting the eggs,
Preparing to give them away.
The house doy lay
Stretched out on the floor
Where the afternoon sun
Used to steal;
When the old man lent
To his feelings vent,
And began to let out a squeal.
He cursed and he swore,
And said he didn't know,
Such liars were 'lowed to run loose.
Ma said, "Shut up'
You wanted a change,
It's good enough for you, old goose."

"I thought that word
They used on you, Dad,
Was too big for your pate,
Don't you see?
But you 'lowed that you knowed,
That the debts that you owed
Could be paid
With that word
NORMALCY".

Obituary

Samuel Storer, son of John E. and Catherine Storer, was born March 28th, 1872, near Belfast, Ohio. He died May 22, 1921, Aged 49 years, one-month and twenty-two days.

On September 21st, 1892 he was united in marriage to Elnorah B. Hamilton of Belfast. To this union was born one daughter, Ethel Hamilton Storer. Both of Mr. Storer's parents preceeded him in death leaving his wife and daughter, one sister, Mrs. Will McClure of Belfast, a number of nieces and nephews, and a host of friends to mourn their loss.

For a period of about ten years after his marriage, Mr. Storer served as a teacher in the public schools of Jackson township. After this his vocation was always that of a salesman. He worked for several different companies, but his longest and most important employment was with the John Deere Plow Company of Indianapolis, Indiana. To this work he gave the best years of his life, in honest interest and faithful attention. He made for himself a large place in the hearts and lives of the men who make this great business enterprise. His life demanded the highest esteem and respect of his employers, his fellowworkmen, and his business associates.

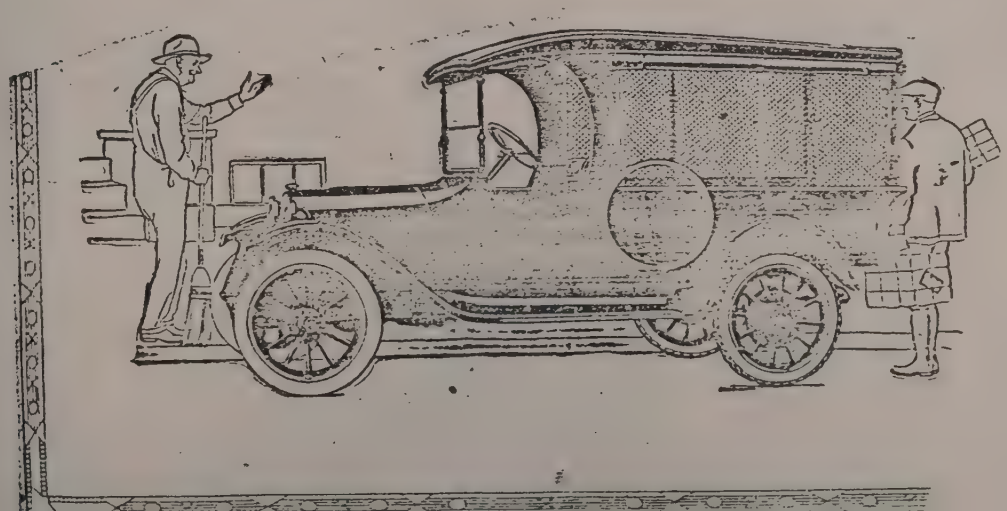
During his entire life he was vitally interested in matters of religion, the church, and the kingdom of God. His denominational preference was that of his parents, and on October twentieth 1920 he was baptized into the fellowship of the First Baptist Church of Hillsboro. He had been actively interested in this church so long that he was for years in the truest spiritual sense a member of it.

He was always a loyal supporter and worker for the enactment and enforcement of laws for the prohibition of the liquor traffic, and also took an active part in every progressive movement for the public good.

In his home life he was dearly beloved as husband and father, and gave of himself without reserve for the increase of the happiness of those who were most truly his own.

Highland county was always his home, but his life reached out beyond his home where he made many loyal and trusted friends. He will always be remembered by those who have known and loved him as a fine type of Christian gentleman, the influence of whose personality was always for good.

Many friends extend their sympathy to Harry Frey and wife in the death of their little 5 year old boy, which occured at their home in Springfield. Services were held at their home at 3 o'clock Sunday the remains were brought to this place on Monday morning for burial. Mr. and Mrs. Will Bisher and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kiefer of Dayton and many friends from Buford attended the funeral.



ADAM'S ADVANTAGE

This must have made him sore;
When he and Mother Eve fell out
He couldn't slam the door.

Floyd DeForest McNeil, son of Clyde and Elizabeth McNeil, was born near Rainsboro, Ohio October the eight, nineteen hundred and seventeen and departed this life June the nineteenth, nineteen hundred and twenty-one—age three years, eight months, and eleven days. He leaves to mourn their loss a fond and loving father, mother, sister Hazel, two brothers Paul and William and many kind and sympathetic friends.

Little Floyd's pale form lies still as droops the rose in the morning sun, and on the little face the wondering look has given place to one of sweet repose. It is the mystery of death.

It is for us, the living, to act our part while life is spared us. If we felt sure on the point of identifying and being with our loved ones in the world to come, we would not care to live long. As it is, we must be resigned to whatever may be divinely ordered.

We sometimes ask why it is that bright forms of human beauty presented to our view are taken from us, leaving the thousand streams of our affections to flow back in torrents upon our hearts. There is but one answer. There is a realm where the rainbow never fades; where the stars will be spread before us like islands that slumber in the ocean; and where the beautiful beings which now pass before us like shadows will stay in our presence forever. Jesus has said, "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

E, FRIDAY, JULY 8, 1921

One of Highland County's patriarchs, Moses Milner of Bridges, died at his home opposite the Bridges School House, Saturday at 2 o'clock, P. M. Mr. Milner had been ill since April and although it was known that he could never recover, his passing was not expected at that time and his son, Abraham, who had been caring for him, was away from home when the end came.

Mr. Milner was 96 years of age on the 16th day of last January and was born and had lived his entire life in the house where he died.

He was a man of extremely wide acquaintanceship and the possessor of a wonderful memory. Events that happened in his boyhood days could be recalled at will almost until the day of his death and his accounts of days gone by were as vivid and accurate as though they had happened but yesterday. It was a rare pleasure to have the privilege of interviewing Mr. Milner, for his mind was as accurate as the most reliable history and he was a fund of unique and fascinating information.

For several years he has anticipated his passing and long ago he built the casket in which he was buried, using black walnut lumber from a tree which had for many years stood on his farm. On the casket he placed four handles instead of the customary seven, and requested that his four grandsons be his pall-bearers. They are Stanley and Earl Milner of Leesburg, and Harry and Ralph Skeen of Washington C. H.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock at the home, in charge of Rev. Frank Milner of Leesburg, and interment was made in the Bridges Cemetery, which lays just across the valley from the old Milner Homestead. Mr. Milner is survived by four children, Mrs. Ella Fluckett of Chicago, Isaac Milner of Pueblo, Colo., Charles of Alberta, Canada and Abraham of Leesburg.

OBITUARY

Alpheus, son of Jacob and Jan Cochran nee (Colvin) was born nea Pricetown on Febuary 25th, 185 and departed this life June 25th 1921, aged 71 years, 4 mo.

He was married to Elizabeth Gos sett, Dec. 3rd, 1868. Six children were born unto this union one having been called to her heavenly home while yet an infant.

The wife, five children, twelve grandchildren and a host of relatives and friends remain to mourn their loss.

He lived most all of his life in Highland County and has several times held public office in same.

He was a man always interested in the welfare of his community. His ear was ever ready to hear the cry of the needy and many a time has he given the necessities of life to help some poor mother that she might keep her children with her.

His eye was keen to observe any wrong that existed in the community and his honest, broad mind was wisely used to destroy this wrong. When problems of school, church, or any public matters came up for discussion he was there to weild his influence for right decision of such problems. He always saw to it that such matters had a good, clean, moral standing.

When his brother Joseph died leaving a wife and seven children he just spread that broad wing of brotherly —yes, fatherly love over that little group of children and guided them by his gentle, yet wise advice till they were old enough to shoulder their own responsibilities. The influenc that went out from his life to these children has never been forgotten by them and though these children are now somewhat scattered they feel a chord of love drawing them to this uncle.

He united with the M. E. Church when very young but because of different family belief did not become a full member until four years ago when he again renewed his desire to follow their faith."

As I stood by his bedside just a few days ago I noticed a picture of him and his grandsons just over the head of his bed looking as if to say: "Here we are grandfather, young, strong and ready to help you in your declining years, but what impressed me most as I saw him lying there--unable to speak—eat or even move, was this motto right over his bed: "The Lord is My Shepherd I Shall not Want". All that loving hands here could do was done to relieve his suffering but in that motto was the secret of his patient --long enduring sickness. But now that Shepherd has laid aside the tired worn body and today a new body without pain or sorrow resides with the Giver of life eternal.

This man who was esteemed by all who knew him is gone from this world but may the good moral influence which he spread all round him still live as an emblem to the memory of one whose whole life meant morality now and forever.

John Stanley Hughes of near Harwood was the victim of a gasoline explosion last Sunday evening about 8:30 and as a result may lose his life. His five year old son was also quite badly burned, but is believed to be out of danger.

Dr. Sanderson of Pricetown, who was summoned to attend the injured man and his little son, says that there is very little hopes for Mr. Hughes as his flesh is terribly burned from his waist up and his hands are literally cooked caused by his frantic attempts to tear the burning clothing from his body. Indications are that he escaped inhaling the flames by rolling on the ground.

Mr. Hughes is not able to tell how the accident occured, but the accident is believed to have happened much along the following manner.

Threshers were expected Monday morning and Mr. Hughes was getting the Ford ready for several early trips. His little son was with him. He was pouring gasoline from a can into a paint bucket and then through a funnel into the tank. He set a lantern on the seat of the auto in order to better see the mouth of the funnel and the contents of the tank.

It is thought that some of the liquid splashed on the lantern, causing it to explode and thus igniting the gasoline in the paint bucket. Mr. Hughes threw the blazing contents over his shoulder and in this way splashed both himself and his son with the fiery liquid.

Screaming for help the terribly injured man rolled upon the ground and attempted to tear the burning clothing from his body. His cries attracted his father who ran to his assistance and then summoned Dr. Sanderson. Everything possible is being done for him, but as above stated, his chances for recovery are slight.

The son, while painfully and seriously burned, is not fatally hurt. Strange to relate the automobile received but slight damage and the flames did not reach any of the nearby buildings.

Mr. Hughes is about thiry five years of age, is married and has two children.

Chillicothe, Ohio:—A sudden gold fever has broken out in the Greenfield—Bainbridge country, with the announcement that assay tests have shown specimens of quartz, found in Buckskin creek to contain gold.

Two men—Thomas Goons of Greenfield and William Smalley of Bainbridge—are the promoters in the proposition. They discovered the gold by accident, Mr. Smalley, a collector of curios, having picked up some specimens of rock with glittering pieces of gold showing on the surface. He got in touch with Goons, an old prospector of the west and they began an investigation.

Specimens of quartz, soapstone and black dirt, containing the particles of ore, were sent to an assayist, and examination and tests showed the ore to be gold.

The men have leased 200 acres of land, it is said, and will begin operations to obtain the mineral as fast as possible. The farm on which the specimens were picked up lies about three miles from Bainbridge, towards Greenfield, on Buckskin Creek. —News-Journal.

With gold at Bainbridge, magnesium base near Greenfield, oil at Centerfield, gas near Hillsboro, asphalt near Russels, more oil near Dodsonville and still more oil near Sinking Spring, it really looks like some of Highland County's mineral prospects ought to pan out. We are now hourly expecting the announcement that coal has been discovered over toward Bridges. We mean that, too.

American Legion Conducts Services For Comrade Who Fell Overseas. Body Arrived Saturday.

The remains were shipped from France on July 11th with a number of other deceased heroes of the Rainbow Division and reached Hoboken some days ago. When the casket reached Hillsboro it was taken to the Evan's Undertaking parlors where it remained until 2 P. M. Sunday when it was escorted by the Raymond R. Stout Post, American Legion, to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Griffith on N. East St. There the American Legion, Captain Earl V. Miller acting as Chaplain, conducted the funeral services. The interment was made in the Hillsboro Cemetery.

Stanley is survived by his parents, three sisters, Mrs. D. C. Roberds of Covington, O., Mrs. Daniel F. Wilson of Springfield, and Mrs. Woodbridge Scott of Bainbridge, and five brothers, Leslie, John and Carey of New Market and Earle and Lawrence of Hillsboro.

Stanley was born on March 11, 1894 and enlisted with Company D, in July 1916. He was selected as one of the 16 members of that company composing the squad assigned to service with the Rainbow Division and on August 15th, 1917 left Hillsboro to join his Regiment at Camp Perry. On Sept. 7, 1917 the regiment entrained for Camp Mills where the assembling of the division was completed. On Oct. 18th of the same year the Division sailed for overseas service, where on September 30th of the following year Stanley was wounded by a piece of shrapnel tearing a gash in his left foot and lodging there. He was gassed at the same time but did not want to give up and it was only in obedience to his officer's orders that he left his regiment and agreed to be taken to the hospital.

There gangerene set in due to the boy having been gassed, and he died at the hospital on October 3rd. three days later.

Regarding him his Captain said: "Stanley was a good soldier and a friend to every man in the company. He was a willing worker, never shirking any duty assigned him. He was a real American soldier."

Mr. Joseph Swonger, prominent citizen of Belfast, died suddenly Sunday morning as the result of extreme excitement caused by supposed burglars in the store of his son Lon, which is opposite the Swonger residence.

Shortly after midnight Sunday, Mrs. Swonger, who has been ill and was sleeping downstairs, was awakened by a noise and upon looking out of the window saw a mysterious light in the store, such as would be caused by a flashlight. She immediately aroused her husband, who was sleeping upstairs, and he awoke his sons, Lon and Frank.

Mr. Swonger seemed to become nervous, fearing that his sons might do something rash and be injured, and he urged them to wait until the supposed burglar came out of the store. The men secured weapons and waited. The lights continued to flash and one of the young men fired a rifle. This did not scare away the burglars, so Mr. Swonger opened the door and stepped out, firing into the air as he did so. After going a few steps he fell, but his sons thought he had stumbled over something and were not alarmed until they reached his side and found him unconscious.

When Mrs. Swonger reached his side she thought him dead, but he opened his eyes, gave one gasp and then again became unconscious, passing away before the arrival of the doctor.

Physicians believe that he was a victim of heart trouble ,although he probably never knew his heart was weak. They think that the extreme excitement caused an undue strain on his heart and it collapsed.

When the mysterious light was investigated it was found that faulty connections were causing the electric lights in the store to intermittenly flash on and off.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Belfast M. E. Church and burial was made in the Belfast Cemetery. Mr. Swonger is survived by his wife, two sons, Lon and Frank who lived with him, and has daughter, Mrs. Margaret Easter. His death has been a great shock to the entire Belfast Community and is an especially hard blow, to his wife who was herself, but recently in a serious condition. Mrs. Swonger is a sister of Mrs. C. C. Walker of this city.

The deceased was 64 years of age and was a leader in the Belfast section being widely known and respected.

OBITUARY

As a shock of corn cometh in its season so cometh man to his final rest. Naked came he into the world; naked he goes out. In Adam all die; in Christ are all made alive.

The call, "Come up higher" has again sounded from heaven's Chancery and Nancy Crawford Martin (nee Fouch) responded.

She was born in Uniontown, Penn., August, 22, 1839; died Aug. 5, 1921, aged 81 years, 11 months and 13 days.

One of nine children born to Geo. and Susana Fouch. Five girls and four boys, all having preceded her to the great beyond except A. M. Fouch of Kansas. Early in life she joined the church of the Brethren. After her marriage she entered the Church of Christ with her husband.

In the year 1858, on Febuary 25 she was united in marriage to G. W. Martin. They lived happily together until Nov. 26, 1907 when he was called to lay down the burden of life. No children blessed this union.

After her husband's death she and her sister-in-law, widow of Rev. J. W. Ruble, lived together 1 mile west of Hollowtown, until 1913, when she made her home with William Custer and wife where she died.

It isn't necessary to say she lived a Christian life. Nor is it worth while to say that the Christian virtue of patience was a strong point of character.

Ask her neighbors and friends. The writer heard Alexander Faris say he lived with her 14 years and never saw her peeved or out of humor. Mrs. Custer testifies that during her 8 year stay with her tho suffering and sick part of the time was always pleasant, always patient. A life worthy the emulation of every Christian.

OBITUARY

We know not the day or hour when the son of man cometh.

In His moral tillage God cultivates many flowers seemingly only for their exquisite beauty and fragrance, for when bathed in soft sunshine they have bursted into blossom, then the Divine hand gathers them from the Earthly fields to be kept in crystal vases in the deathless mansions above the flower, that like a breathing rose filled heart and home, but alas, we were stricken with sore anguish to find it gone. Thus at early dawn Sunday morning July 31st, 1921, God claimed a precious soul Joseph the son of Rheuben and Sini Swonger who was born Jan. 16th, 1857 at Eckmansville, Adams County, O. He was united in marriage to Malinda Kelly the year 1883. To this union three children blessed the home two sons Frank and Lon and Mrs. Alex Easter, all of Belfast. He joined the Presbyterian Church under the ministry of G. W. H. Smith and was liberal in his contributions. He was a member of the Knights of Pythias in high standing, never wavering in any call or duty. As a husband he was affectionate willing to sacrifice all, as father his plans and thoughts were for his children, as neighbor kind and true, and ever ready to aid any way with means or labor. Besides the wife, two sons one daughter and a granddaughter he leaves four brothers and three sisters. He being the first of a family of eight to answer the roll call. He wove in each little duty better far than wordly fame weaving patience, love forebearance, humbly in the Savior's name listening to the voice of conscience. Constant always to the right musing on that better country free from sorray, care, or blight where we'll weave our heavenly fancies if while here we weave aright. A friend.

FRIDAY, AUGU[illegible]2, 1921

LEESBURG, O.—The most shocking tragedy that has descended upon this community for many years occurred Saturday afternoon, when the body of John T. Patton, 72, a resident of Leesburg was found in a lot adjacent to the old Fairfield Church, a mile south of Leesburg. Hogs had discovered the body some time previous and had attacked it, the face being almost entirely eaten away, and the clothing stripped to the waist.

Before the body could be rescued, passersby had to drive away a bull belonging to J. A. Barrett, which had become infuriated by the sight and scent of blood.

Mr. Patton had been engaged to work up a fallen tree on the premises. The bull was in the same lot, but Mr. Patton had said that he was not afraid of the animal. Our best information is that he was last seen alive by John Polk, a farmer here who was returning from Leesburg. Mr. Patton was then at work. This was about eleven o'clock. At two o'clock, Mrs. A. R. McMillen, a daughter of Mr. Barrett, noticed the hogs and the bull making an unusual disturbance, and thought that she saw the feet and legs of a man being tossed about. She called to Mr. William Weyer, who was passing and he started to cross the lot. He was joined by Huston Hamilton, W. H. Pushee and Wraymond Smith, who, after ascertaining that there was a body of a man being attacked, drove a wagon to one side to protect them from the bull and using pitchforks and clubs, drove the animals back.

The sight that met their eyes was horrible beyond description. Later when Coronor Leatherman arrived, it was found that all the ribs were broken, as was the right arm at the socket. Only the spinal column was holding the skull to the trunk.

At the inquest Saturday afternoon, Coronor Leatherman pronounced the death due to cerebral hemmorage, stating that in his opinion that Mr. Patton had fallen dead or unconscious and that the hogs found him, mutilating the body, after which the bull, aroused by the blood, came and pawed and trampled the body.

The death must have occurred sometime between eleven and twelve o'clock. Mr. Patton's dinner pail was untouched, and his body was lying about 150 feet from the place where he was working. The theory of some is that he went to a spring branch for a drink and while returning, met his death.

On the following day Clarence and Fred Patton, of Hillsboro, sons of the deceased, called to physicians of the town together for a second inquest upon the instructions of the prosecuting attorney. The verdict was not changed, however, the physicians declining to substantiate or deny the original finding.

As a matter of fact, unless some eye witness of the tragedy is discovered, the exact details will remain a mystery and public opinion generally is that one person's guess is as good as another's. Also it would be biased report that would not state that many people believe that the bull killed Mr. Patton.

Mr. Barrett states that the bull has never shown a bad disposition before and personally is convinced that the animal had nothing to do with the death. He stated this week however that he would dispose of it.

On the the night previous to Mr. Patton's death he was telling a number of his friends how that when the bull would come around where he was working that he would tie a dynamite cap to a long weed, light the fuse and when it was about ready to explode, throw it in the animal's direction. This, he said, never failed to keep him at a distance. In proof of this a weed with a dynamite cap and fuse was found on a tree, under which he was working.

Besides the two sons mentioned there is a daughter, Mrs. Hazel Brown of Peebles and brothers and sisters, as follows: Elizabeth Smith of Washington C. H., Laura Priest of near Leesburg, Susan Smith of Kansas City, Mo., Lawrence Patton of Washington C. H. and Warren J. Patton of near Bainbridge.

The deceased was an inveterate worker, extremely careful and tastey in whatever he was doing, quiet and unobtrusive. His death is a great shock to our community and he will be greatly missed.

One of the most shocking tragedies in months occurred Thursday evening when Mrs. F. B. Cummings, mother of four young children, was instantly killed when the automobile driven by her husband, Mr. Farris Cummings, crashed head-on into a railroad abutment on the Goshen Pike near Blanchester. Mrs. Cummings was instantly killed, Mr. James Foley of Hillsboro received serious injuries, and the other occupants of the car, Mr. Cummings and the three little children, were scratched and bruised.

Mr. Cummings, who is a prominent farmer of the Marshall neighborhood and a brother of Reece Cummings of this city, was planning to remodel his home and had taken Mr. Foley, who is a plumber, to Cincinnati to help select the new fixtures for the house. Mrs. Cummings and the three children, two girls, Caryl, aged 12, Dorothy, aged 8, and one son Paul, aged 10, had accompanied them and while in Cincinnati visited the Zoological Gardens.

The party left Cincinnati about seven o'clock in the seven passenger Buick belonging to Mr. Cummings. Tired out by their delightful day's outing the three children were sleepy, so robes were spread on the floor of the car and they laid down there and went to sleep. Mrs. Cummings, who was alone on the rear seat, also laid down and dozed off. Mr. Cummings and Mr. Foley were in front, Mr. Cummings driving.

The evening was damp and somewhat foggy, causing the auto lights to be tricky. A few miles below Blanchester the road dips under the Railroad, a curve hiding the bridge. Mr. Cummings was driving about twenty-five miles an hour when he topped the rise the other side of the railroad, swung around the curve and saw, to his horror, that the car was headed s raight for one of the stone abutments.

He instantly jammed down on the footbreak, and believes that so frantic and so sharp was the action, that his foot slipped off the brake pedal and struck the accelerator. At any rate, the car seemed to leap forward. Just before the crash came Mr. Cummings was able to give the car a half turn and it struck the abutment "quartering". The right front wheel received the full force of the blow and was driven into the hood, the fender, crumpling up like a piece of paper. The two men in the front seat braced themselves and were not thrown out. But Mrs. Cummings, being asleep, was caught unawares and the force of the collision threw her against the back of the front seat, crushing her right shoulder, and chest and driving her head between her shoulders with such force as to instantly break her neck. She died almost instantly.

When the car hit the abutment at an angle the rear end skidded around with terriffic force and smack against the stone wall with sufficient force to damage the whole side and to break the top. Mr. Foley was sitting on the right front seat and it is thought that this sideways wrench, together with a blow from the broken bows, caused the dislocation of his right shoulder and the spraining of his left shoulder.

The children, fortunately lying on the floor, were rolled up against the back of the front seat, but were not seriously hurt. One of them complained later of a slightly twisted back but otherwise they escaped. Mr. Cummings miraculously escaped injury but suffered greatly from the shock.

For a moment the accident occurred both he and Mr. Foley were stunned by the horror of it all, but almost instantly Mr. Cummings leaped out and ran to the rear door of the car. Finding his wife lying still and lifeless, with every indication of fatal injuries, he immediately sought aid. The first car that approached apparently feared a disguised holdup and did not stop. The next car almost ran past but apparently caught the sense of Mr. Cummings shouts and stopped. Mrs. Cummings was immediately wrapped in robes and rushed to the Gibson-Basinger Hospital at Blanchester, where it was found that she had died almost instantly.

A telephone message to D. M. Evans of Hillsboro summoned the Evans Ambulance and Mrs. Cummings' body was brought here that night. The accident occurred about nine-thirty it is thought. As soon as messages could be sent to Mr. Reece Cummings of this city and relatives of this city and relatives at Marshall and Belfast, they responded and three machine loads of members of the family went to the scene of the accident.

Funeral services were held Sunday morning at 10 o'clock at Pisgah Church and were attended by one of the largest crowds ever seen at a Highland County Funeral friends coming from scores of miles to pay their last respects to this fine mother and wife.

Mrs. Cummings was thirty-eight years old and was formerly Miss Lulu Weaver of Sinking Spring. Mrs. E. J. Weaver, her mother, is very ill and the terrible accident to her daughter has been a great shock to her, being especially serious in view of her physicial condition. Mrs. Cummings was the mother of four children, the baby having been left at home when the family went to Cincinnati. She was formerly a Highland County School teacher and was a graduate of the Hillsboro High School.

Collins Reunion

The annual Collins Reunion was held at the home of Neal Collins near Samantha last Sunday, the day being delightfully spent in renewing old acquaintances, chums meeting chums, and fair cousins again strolling with stalwart relatives. A most delicious dinner was thoroughly enjoyed, all of the following guests having a very pleasant outing; Dennis Collins and family; James Collins and family, Charles Collins and family; Mr. and Mrs. John Collins; H. W. Hunter and family, C. M. Ellison and family; J. H. Beatty and family; Mrs. Joseph Wright and family; Mr. and Mrs. Julius Ochs; A. L. Miller and family; Mrs. Elmer Beatty and son; Mrs. John Bond and family; Mrs. Agnes Ochs and family; Will Engbers and family; Mrs. Grover Collins and son; Mrs. Leslie Wisecup and family; Rev. J. J. Malone; Carl Haley; Isaac Beets, Delilah Simbro and Stella Haley.

Lulu Augusta, the fourth of five children of Thomas and Eliza J. Weaver, was born at Sinking Spring, Ohio on Febuary 8th, 1883. Of this family circle two have preceded her to the better land. One brother dying in infancy and an only and much beloved sister about two years ago, leaving two brothers, Ellis and Ora, to cheer and comfort the devoted father and mother.

Early in life she united with the Church of the Brethren, accepted God as her Father and trusted him implicitly. As a girl she was an earnest conscientious student, and believing always in the highest efficiency attainable, after finishing the course in her home school she entered Hillsboro High School and carefully and thoughtfully prepared for the profession of teaching, which she followed with good success until December 25th. 1904 when she was united in marriage to F. B. Cummings, to whom she has been a faithful, loving, help mate and with whom she has walked in the most perfect companionship for sixteen happy years.

To this love-knit household, six children were born; the two oldest dying in infancy, leaving Caryl, Paul, Dorothy and Ralph, a rich inheritance —THE inheritance beyond price of a noble life—nobly lived.

She was a home-maker in the fullest sense of the word, and the care and well being and right teaching of her children was to her the highest, most important work in life; yet, through all her devotion to home and family, so unselfish was her life that she always found time and opportunity to do good to those around her.

Not a neighbor was sick but she was there to extend a loving, helpful hand; not a home passed under a cloud but she was there to comfort. Always cheerful, always calm and serene, always believing that God, her Father, whom she knew and loved, and trusted, would in His own time and in his own way, heal all sickness, ease all pain. Thus she went about doing good and to her friends she has left behind, the sun will seem to shine less brightly, the flowers not quite so beautiful, because we no longer have the radiance of her smile. A woman of highest ideals, who strove ever to uphold the standard of Christ, who did her duty unflinchingly—has gone from among us and our lives will be broader and richer because she has "passed this way".

A few years ago she transferred her church membership to the Pisgah M. E. Church under whose protecting shadow we lay her to rest, and in fancy we hear her say: "All is well; be of good cheer."

Obituary.

Nancy Martin Young, was b.. 8th, 1863, near Hollowtown, and departed this life August 1921, at her home near New Mar.. Ohio, aged 57 years, 10 months and 9 days.

She was the daughter of John P. and Eliza Martin. She was of a family of nine children. She was united in marriage to Ora C. Tracy, at Pricetown, Ohio in the year 1882. To this union two children were born, a daughter, Mrs. Howard Miller, and a son, William Tracy.

In the year 1893 she was united again in marriage to S. W. Young, to whom she has been a faithful wife and loving companion until her untimely departure. She became a member of the Church of Christ at Pricetown at the age of 14 years and remained so until 1903 when she moved her membership to the Church of Christ at Danville, Ohio, where she has been a faithful member and always present when health would permit.

Her last sickness was of short duration. Though her suffering was intense she bore it all without a murmur. A few days before her departure she called her loved ones to her bedside and gave them words of comfort which shall never be forgotten. She said if it was the Lord's will to take her she was prepared and ready to go.

She looked into the face of her daughter and requested her to read the 23rd Psalm. The loving hands of kind friends and neighbors were ready to do what they could but human skill could avail nothing. God called and the tender thread of life was severed and her spirit soared peacefully away to its Maker to dwell in that home not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

How she will be missed in her home for the home ties are severed. Her chair is vacant and her accustomed place will know her no more. Yet the sweet presence and influence of her life will never be forgotten. But, we sorrow at those who have no hope, for her life was crowned with a triumphant death. It could be said of Mrs. Young that she had no enemies.

As a neighbor she was ever ready to lend a helping hand, always trying to help others. She leaves to mourn her departure, a husband, one son and daughter, three sisters, and two brothers. In this world we only meet to part. Goodbye is the word that ends our meetings here, but not so in heaven.

OBITUARY

John Larrick, son of Jacob and Mahala Wood Larrick, was born June 14th, 1850, near Sugartree Ridge, Highland County, Ohio and spent the years of his youth and early manhood in that county.

Aug. 15th, 1882 he was happily united in marriage with Rachel Ann Miller and for nearly fifty years these two have trodden life's pathway in precious and happy companionship.

Eight children —two sons and six daughters, came to bring the joy of their presence to this home.

Five years ago a very great sorrow cast its shadow upon them, in the departure of their beloved daughter, Mrs. Anna Gorman, for that city that hath foundation, whose maker and builder is God.

With the exception of the two younger, all the children were born in Highland County.

Nearly five years ago he came to Clinton County, to the neighborhood of the Fairview Friends Church, near New Vienna, Ohio where they lived for more than fourteen years.

Converted in his earlier life, he and his wife brought their membership to the Fairview Friend's Church, of which he remained a consistent to the day of his death.

Here his children were converted; came with Church Fellowship; grew from childhood to manhood and womanhood; married and went forth to homes of their own.

During the past five years of his life he has, with his family, been a resident of Hillsboro.

He has told the story of his life as no other one could tell it; told it in terms of love and unselfish sacrifice to his own home. In terms of devotion and faithfulness to his God; he has told it to the Church, and in the simplicity and the integrity of an upright life he has told it to the world.

His most enduring memorial is that written in the hearts and the lives of those who knew him best and loved him most.

For the past two months he has been in failing health and the last four weeks of his life were weeks of the most intense and constant suffering. A few days before his departure he gave utterances to one of the deepest convictions of his soul, saying to his family as almost his last conscious message: "Remember that we must all give an account unto God."

Thus, unafraid and serene in spirit, in the midst of his great suffering, he passed from us in the 72nd year of his age. Our great loss is his eternal gain; the hour of our sorrow and loneliness is the hour of his coronation, according to the promise of the Lord, whom he so faithfully served.

"Be thou faithful unto death and I will give thee a crown of life."

Of his father's household three brothers and two sisters sorrow for him. Of his own, his beloved wife, seven children and thirteen grandchildren and four great- grand children sorrow this day for one beloved. Aug. 17th, 1921 he entered into rest. For so he goeth to his beloved sleep.

Death Of Mrs. Meek

Mrs. Amanda Meek, aged 62, died Sunday night, Sept. 11th, at the Good Samaritan Hospital in Cincinnati where she had been receiving treatment. The body was brought to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ova Hopkins, of this city, on Monday morning. Two sons, Sloane and Glenn of New Castle, Ind., and one daughter, Mrs. Ova Hopkins, survive her.

A very happy and delightful family reunion occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stout, of West Walnut Street, last Sunday, when the brothers and sisters of Mrs. Stout, their families, and other relations to the number of 44, gathered at her home. At noon time a table 30 feet long, loaded with good things to eat, was a most welcome feature. In the afternoon several of the young folks motored to the Rocky Fork caves while the others remained at home to chat and to play games.

The oldest person present was Grandpa Stout, who is 78 years old. The youngest, Miss Mattie Lee Troutman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Troutman, of Mowrystown, Ohio; who say she is just six weeks old.

Mr. Chas. Stout, of this city, who tips the scales at 270 pounds, won the heavy-weight championship. The beauty prize was claimed by Miss Ceeila Coons, of Columbus, Ohio, and Miss Roma Beucler, of Mowrystown, O., but as this was disputed by the other young ladies present, the matter was not settled. The "booby" prize was won by Ernest Beucler, of Washington C. H. O., who promptly turned it over to Mr. Ray Coons, of Columbus, Ohio.

The sunshine has its shadows. This was evidenced by the receipt of a telegram from Hoboken, N. J., stating that the body of private Raymond Stout son of Mr. and Mrs. David Stout of this city, was there and would shortly be sent to Hillsboro.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Beucler and family, of Washington, C. H. O; Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Beucler and family of Ripley, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Addison Beucler and family, of Mowrystown, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Diehl and family, of Hamilton, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. David and Charles Stout and their families of this city.

OBITUARY

Morning, noon and night, in budding Springtime, in blossoming summer, in glorious Autumn, or sparkling, crystal winter, Death gathers in his harvest. And always he seems to choose for his own our fairest and best.

George William Jones, the oldest of seven children of Joseph T. and Emiline Stevens Jones was born at the family home near Samantha, September 18th, 1890. Of this family circle he is the second one to have passed to the Great Beyond. A younger brother, Forest, died when quite young.

As a boy he was industrious and conscientious, believing always in the highest efficiency attainable, and during all his school work made the best of his opportunities, graduating with a class of 12 as far as the common school could take him.

He then attended college at Wilmington for two years, standing not only high in school work, but having the respect of the teachers and fellow students as well.

The need for help on the farm caused him to willingly give up his plans for better education and he came home to assist his father with the work and no complaint or murmur ever crossed his lips. But his education was continued in the reading of good books, magazines or papers. As he often said: "I have no time only for the best." No pleasure was too great that if his father and mother wished him to change it, he would not refuse to do it for them. A more dutiful son could not be found.

Just as the sun was flooding the earth with brightness on the morning of October 30, 1915, he was married to Lettie Lee Leaverton at the home of, and by Rev. Frank Milner and the sunlight of happiness has surrounded them through almost six years of a perfect married life. Having gone through school together, graduates of the same class, their friendship merged into love, and no home was ever happier, or companionship more congenial. They began housekeeping in the present home, he having purchased the farm just a while before he was married and the privations incident to building up a home they shared together. The friends who were legion know in this home the welcome was sincere and a good time looked forward to, whenever they came. Disease fastened itself upon him, a few months ago, and while doubtless realizing his condition, he was ever hopeful and cheerful, going about doing his usual work until a few hours before his death.

He has left to his devoted wife, parents, brother and sisters a rich inheritance of a noble life, nobly lived Nine more days would have completed 31 years for him. The time seems so short, but the harvest was ready for his Master's use, and near noon of September 9th, he finished his earthly work and peacefully slept to rest. "as one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him and lies down to pleasant dreams."

The days grow shorter, the nights grow longer; the headstones thicken along the way. And life grows sweeter as love grows stronger; for those who walk with us day by day.

Then let us clasp hands as we walk together; and let us speak softly in love's sweet tone. For no man knows on the tomorrow, whether we two pass by, or one alone.

Death Of Mrs. West

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth R. West, wife of Charles A. West of Rainsboro, died at their home last Thursday, after a lingering and complicated illness.

Funeral services were held at the home on Sunday, conducted by Rev. John Davis, and interment was made in the Hillsboro Cemetery.

Mrs. West is survived by her husband, five daughters, and four sons. Mrs. Howard Sewell of Warren, formerly of Hillsboro, is the youngest daughter.

A short time ago Mrs. West, who was 65 years of age, was taken to the Greenfield Hospital in the hopes than an operation would relieve her, but it was decided not to operate and about 8 days prior to her death she was taken home.

West--Frost

Miss Ruth Eleanor West and Mr. Guy Newell Frost were united in marriage Tuesday at high noon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe West, near Hillsboro, in the presence of the immediate families and intimate friends.

It was a very pretty wedding, simple yet impressive. As the hour approached Miss Mary R. Parshall sweetly sang "O Promise Me" and as the words of the song died away the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March were heard, played by Miss Bess McNeil. The bridal party then entered the room, Miss Sara Ruth Sams being the only bridesmaid, while the groom was attended by Mr. Earl Robinson. The bridal couple took their places before Dr. J. N. Eason, who impressively read the double ring ceremony.

Immediately after the marriage ceremony the company was seated at two long tables in the commodious dining room where the wedding breakfast was served. The bride's table was decorated in a scheme of pink and white, being dainty and very attractive. Baskets of flowers of blending colors decorated the other table. Misses Martha Lydia Roads, Elizabeth Morris and Mrs. Fred Fenner, school girl friends of the bride, served the breakfast.

The bride was gowned in a creation of white georgette, over white silk, trimmed in white silk fringe and with a satin girdle, elegant in its simplicity. She carried white roses and white snapdragons and being a tall, slender and very beautiful brunette, the gown was most becoming to her beauty.

Miss Sams, the bridesmaid, who is also a cousin of the bride, wore a pale green organdy and carried pink roses and pink snap dragons, making indeed a very pretty picture.

Miss Mabel Butler was the lucky miss who caught the bride's boquet.

Following the breakfast the happy young couple left for a week's wedding tour after which they will be at home to their friends at Mansfield, Ohio, where Mr. Frost holds a responsible position with the Humphreys Mfg. Co.

HUGE ASSEMBLAGE AT SOLDIERS' FUNERAL

Last Rites For Raymond R. Stout and Harmon Houck Attended By Great Crowds Of Friends---Beautiful Service.

The greatest assemblage ever attending funeral services in Hillsboro gathered last Sunday to pay tribute to the memories of Raymond R. Stout of the 147th. Machine Gun Company, and Harmon Houck of Company H., 128th. Infantry, two Hillsboro boys who laid down their lives in their country's service while overseas.

The services were held at the Armory, under the auspicies of the Raymond R. Stout Post of the American Legion, and long before the appointed hour, great throngs were massed about the building about which was posted a guard of honor composed of members of the Legion.

The two flag draped caskets were brought to the Armory from the respective homes of the young heroes who had so gallantly made the supreme sacrifice in the hour of their country's need, and the great assembly room, where surrounded by beautiful floral tributes, they rested during the services. The entire remaining floor space of the Armory was packed by relatives and friends of the young soldiers, many being unable to obtain entrance owing to the great throng.

The religious services were conducted by Rev. Ewing of the U. B. Church for Comrade Houck and Rev. Crabtree of the Church of Christ for Comrade Stout, who had been since early youth, a member of that church.

Dr. J. C. Larkin, commander of the post, was in charge of the Legion's Services and Captain E. V. Miller, Chaplain, read the burial service. In addition, Capt. Miller, who was Sgt. Stout's captain, read the obituary of Raymond Stout.

Beautiful and appropriate songs were sung by the Choir of the Church of Christ and the Hillsboro Double Male Quartette.

At the close of the services the announcement was made that the body of Sgt. Stout would first be taken to the Hillsboro Cemetery for interment, the body of Comrade Houck remaining at the Armory until the cortege returned, after which it would be taken to the Ambrose Chapel Cemetery west of town. The family of Comrade Houck remained at the Armory with the body.

Company "G" O. N. G. and the Legion Post headed the vast processions which extended from the Armory to the entrance to the Cemetery, and when all had reached there Sgt. Stout was laid to rest with full military honors. Immediately thereafter, the body of Comrade Hauck, escorted by a procession of similar size, was taken to the Ambrose Cemetery, where he was likewise laid to rest with full military honors.

Sgt. Raymond R. Stout was killed in action on Sept. 29th, 1918, in the Argonne, aged 19 years, 6 mos. and 10 days.

Miss Elizabeth Lutz, 27 formerly of Cleveland, and Mr. Michael Lang 35, of Cleveland, were married Tuesday by Squire E. Q. West, in Hillsboro.

'Tis a rare and unusual privilege bestowed by God upon but few Mothers to have their span of life so lengthened as to permit them to witness the Golden Wedding Anniversary of a daughter. But Mrs. Margaret Sayler, of Hillsboro, who has reached the ripe old age of 96, was accorded this privilege this week when Mr. and Mrs. Leander Detwiler of this city celebrated their 50th Wedding Anniversary. Mrs. Detwiler is a daughter of Mrs. Sayler and her mother occupied a place of honor at the Detwiler home on Monday the date of the anniversary, and greatly enjoyed the spirit of happiness which pervaded the home.

The daughters of the estimable couple had notified many of the friends of their parents and had asked that post cards and letters be sent as a surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Detwiler. Over a hundred were received, together with several telegrams of congratulation, one being from Rev. and Mrs. Charles Bennett of Toledo, Ohio and another from Rev. and Mrs. Earl Slutz of Cleveland, Ohio. Mrs. Detwiler had modestly made a request that it not be a formal affair, hence no invitations were sent out, but many friends called during the day and Mr. and Mrs. Detwiler received quite a few appropriate gifts and many beautiful flowers, the predominating color of the flowers being golden (marigolds and dahlias) symbolizing the "Golden Wedding".

Search for a Brother

Stranger than fiction is the story of how I. H. Anderson of Hillsboro lost all trace of his brother, N. H. Anderson of Detroit and after fruitlessly searching for him, wrote to a sister in Los Angeles, California, asking if she knew of the missing brother's whereabouts, and received this reply:

"Brother is here at my home and has just completed a transcontinental automobile trip."

So overjoyed was Mr. I. H. Anderson when this word was received that in order to release his pent up feelings he wrote to his brother, newly found again, and demanded a complete account of all his travels and experiences since they had been separated. The brother cheerfully complied and the long story was received in Hillsboro some weeks ago.

Mr. Anderson's description of his journey across the continent in an automobile is most interesting and the Gazette has secured permission from I. H. Anderson to print that part of his brother's account, which follows:

"We bade all our friends farewell in Detroit on Sunday morn September 19th, 1920 and started on our 3,000 mile journey.

We went over the Lincoln Highway through Jackson and Kalamazoo, Michigan. Struck lake Michigan at Michigan City, rounded the south end of the lake, through a corner of Indiana and Illinois, followed up the lake to Chicago. There we went to Sears-Roebuck & Co., and purchased the complete out-fits, sleeping cots, tents, and camp stools. You can imagine we had our machines will laden down for a long journey including our famous shepherd dog we had raised in Detroit. We spent a day and a half in Chicago camping in the outskirts. From Chicago we traveled through northern Illinois to Davenport and Rock Island City, where we crossed the Missippi River into Iowa. The on thru Des Moines to Council Bluffs, crossing the Missouri River in- Omaha Nebraska, then to Lincoln Nebraska. There we left the Lincoln Highway and took a new route southwest along the Platte River to the western border of Nebraska striking the northeast boundary of Colorado at Sterling. Then south to Denver Colorado. From Denver we had intended to go northwest through Salt Lake City but the season was too late as we couldn't cross the Rocky Mountains in the northern states on account of heavy snow fall. So we went south from Denver to Colorado Springs. As this was our old stamping grounds in years gone by, we camped there two days. We had been gone two weeks and had covered 1,500 miles. From here we went south to the old ancient city of Pueblo where the mound builders dwelt centuries ago. From Pueblo we took the Santa Fe trail on south to New Mexico and southwest to the old city of Santa Fe. Here we camped two days. This was the end of the old Santa Fe trail that Kit Carson foHowed the Indians years ago, but the old trail is just as wild and woolly as ever and nothing but Indian Villages for hundreds of miles. We succeeded in getting a snap shot of an old Indian cave dweller on Santa Fe, who came there from the caves a few miles away to sell pottery and beads. Santa Fe is all Spanish Creoles and Indians. The city is situated in a beautiful plateau 8,000 feet high and surrounded by mountains still higher. From there we traveled due west on the Ocean to Ocean Route to Arizona. In Arizona we struck the famous Mohava Desert. Here we had to replenish well in gas, oil, water and food as we had one-hundred and sixty six miles of Desert with no chance of supplies and not even a human being only other tourists like ourselves. You can imagine the chance of breaking a machine out on that awful desert, but we made the trip across the Desert all right. Our Jackson had to pull the Ford through the sand a time or so. We finally reached Kingston and were back to half civilization again. From Kingston Arizona we traveled southwest for one hundred and fifty miles through the great volcanic region, thru the famous Petrified Forest to Flagstaff Arizona. This was a wonderful trip over the mountains 8000 feet volcanic roads cut through cliffs for five miles where the sun shown down about fifteen minutes at noon. The trail covered with sharp rugged lava rocks deposited there.

Camping at nights among Indians and Mountain Lions we passed thru the great Western Reserve, a fine pine forest of about fifty miles wide, to the old city of Flagstaff Arizona, situated in the rugged high spurs of the Rockies. Here we struck cold and snow but pulled over the mountains safe. From Flagstaff on southwest to Needles. This is an old town situa in the spurs of the Coast Range mo tains, on the boundary of Ari and California, getting its name f the high needle pointed mountains around it. Here we saw the first sign of California. We camped under palm trees. Crossing the Little Colorado River here which separated Arizona from California. We journeyed on west thru California crossing o the Coast Range mountains thru t old Majava Pass 8,000 feet high. W descended thru a heavy snow storm thru dangerous cuts and passes, down, down, zig-zag, horse shoe, hair pin turns, till we reached a lower altitude where the snow turned to rain. On and one we went down the mountains, till we all of a sudden were confronted by a strange sight. We had come to the border of the Golden West. We soon reached the city of San Barnideno, a beautiful city surrounded with palm trees, flowers, orange groves, grapes, olives, figs and other things to numerous to mention. From there, we turned north over a fine Boulevard north sixty-six miles to Pasadena. From Pasadena north fifteen miles to Los Angeles. Reaching here at nine o'clock at night October 19th, just one month from the time we bade our friends farewell in Detroit. We rented a stall in the camping grounds here, pitched our tents and stayed two days in tent. Here we found sister Bell and children. I sent a telegram back to Lillie and Truman's wife to take the train and come on, and in a week's time they joined us here.

Search ....

It was a wonderful trip, full of beauty, pleasure, danger, excitement etc. We had great luck with our machines. No serious break or accident of any kind. We saw dozens and more of tourists with broken machines, axles, springs, others lying in deep cuts up side down, smashed to pieces. We gave some water to some out on the Desert, gas to others, soldered one leaking radiator for one, sold a spare Ford tire for one, pulled one man and family in off the plains who had a bursted hub. Towed him in with tow rope to service station with our big car, through the sand. We were well equipped, had complete set of tools, soldering outfit, etc. Carried five gallons of extra oil, ten gallons of water extra. Our big Jackson had a rear reserve gas tank of fifteen gallons and a seven gallon front tank, making twenty-two in all. We supplied the Ford with gas on long runs between supply stations. We took over one hundred snap shots of camp life along the route. Will get a bunch printed and send you some. Everybody enjoyed the camp life and trip. We shot quite a number of Jacks while crossing the plains.

Well I have given you only a faint idea of such a journey as no one can fully realize what such a journey means from reading a letter. Only those experincing it can fully realize it. I can not add a full description in this letter of California as it is now too long a letter. It is a fine country in some respects, with its draw backs the same as all other countries. No winter only light frosts. Gardens growing all winter. Trees always green. Flowers in bloom the year around. Oranges continue to bloom and ripen all the time. We buy a two gallon bucket full of large seedless ripe oranges for twenty-five cents. Vegetables on market the year round. Living is some cheaper here than in the East. No fuel to buy. We burn a few blocks in a small heater morning and evening during the rainy months, January, Feb. and March. The Gardners and Orange Growers all irrigate. This is a great poultry and egg and dairy country."

Death of Milton Austin

Milton S. Austin, brother of Mrs. Morris Morrow of Hillsboro, died in New York last week at the age of 76. He was a retired teacher and was a half brother of D C. Austin of Wilmington and was well known in Clinton County.

For many years he taught in the south and established a reputation quite in keeping with the well known ability of the Austin family as teachers. After he retired from the work he lived with his son, Albert M., in New York, for some years. Another son, Joe E. is a business man in Philadelphia.

Mr. Austin's body was taken to Franklin, Tenn., where it was laid beside that of his wife, who died in 1882.

W. W. Fawley, prominent farmer of near here, died Thursday of last week about 1:30 o'clock at his home. He had been in his usual health but was suddenly sticken with severe illness on Thursday morning, there being a complication of apoplexy and paralysis.

Funeral services were held at Sharpsville on Sunday afternoon in charge of Rev. Streitenberger. Interment was made in the new Masonic cemetery. Mr. Fawley, who was forty years old, is survived by his wife and three children.

Looking over things he had stored away, Mr. James E. Upp of Greenfield, a few days ago found an old picture of Lieut. Col. Dan McCoy, old time resident of Rainsboro, having been born and raised there. The picture was taken in a group of G. A. R. officials.

McCoy was living on a farm near Rainsboro when the war broke out and he entered the service. He was wounded later and while home recovering from the effects of the wound, he raised a company from around Rainsboro and returned to the service as its captain.

The first battle the company was engaged in was at Chattanooga under General Thomas, and before the members of the company had had any drilling to amount to anything.

The Union forces were being hard pressed by the Confederates and the of Captain McCoy was called by superior officers to the fact that his men were whipped. He replied that he knew it, but added, "those d——n fools don't." Reinforcements were sent to help this company and this was the turning point of the battle and the Union boys were successful in defeating their foes.

McCoy was mustered out of the service as a brigadier general and after the war went to Illinois, where he located and died there a few years ago.

Two other men in the group were Major R. A. Dwyer of Rainsboro and Capt. J. M. Hiestand of Hillsboro.—Greenfield Republican.

Mr. and Mrs. Carey Whisler of New Market, are in receipt of a telegram advising them that the body of their son, Homer, has reached Hoboken, and that they would be further advised when it was sent on to Hillsboro.

Private Homer Whisler was a member of Company "I", 136th Infantry, 32nd Division, and fell in battle on Oct. 9th, 1918, while bravely trying to remove a wounded comrade from the danger zone.

The body was expected to reach Hoboken yesterday, October 6th, and as soon as it is brought to Hillsboro it will be taken to the home at New Market. Funeral services will be held at New Market, but no definite announcement can be made at this time.

However, it is hoped that detailed information can be furnished next week.

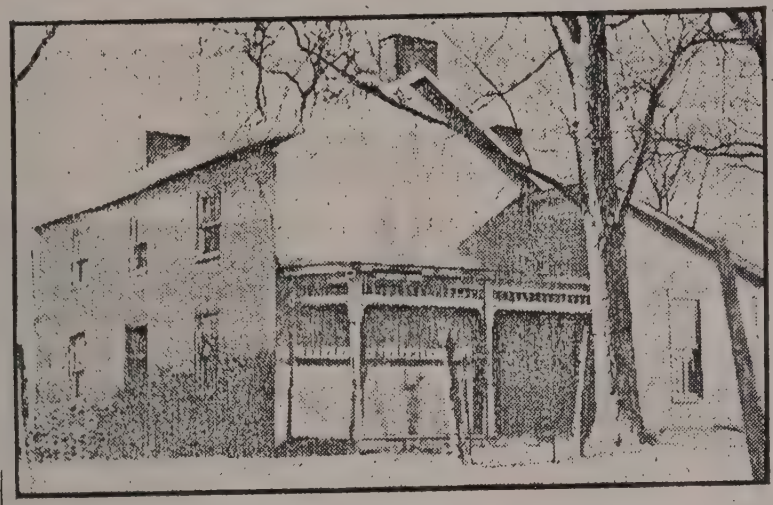
Farm In Family Over 100 Years



Old Pulse Homestead Near Dodsonville

prominent residents of the western part of the county.

The Pulses originally came from Prussia, now a providence in northern Germany, and settled near Lancaster, Pa., where David Pulse, the pioneer of this sketch, was born March 18, 1766. Reared in a home in which education, culture and religion were a part, David typifies the type of family life which today characterizes that found among his descendants.

At the age of 22, David Pulse was married to Miss Sarah Fry, of Jefferson county, Virginia, and to this union were born two sons, George and John and one daughter, Lydia.

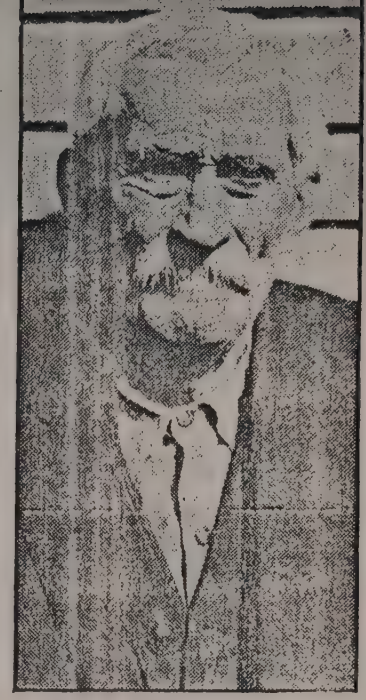
The family migrated westward to Ohio and settled near Hillsboro in October, 1817. Soon afterward David and his son George purchased a tract of land near the present site of Dodsonville, where later they erected their homesteads from brick made right on the place.

The old homestead erected by George Pulse more than 100 years ago is shown in one of the above pictures. David's home was later torn down and built into another building on a new site where his great-grandson, E. S. Pulse, built a new homestead known as "Maple Lawn", making the old place one of the show farms of the county. The place is now owned by Miss Eva Pulse, the only living daughter of E. S. Pulse.

Both George and John married and there were five children in George's family and six born to John and his wife. The youngest of the six children in John's family was John Wesley Pulse, who is pictured above.

John W. Pulse resides on a farm of 235 acres just north of Dodsonville. He is 86 years old and is an interesting person to talk with. He relates that he and his brothers helped their father in clearing the land of timber. What little time he had a chance to attend school was spent in a building made from brick on the Pulse farm.

Mr. Pulse still takes an active interest in life. He served for more than 40 years on the Board of Education of Dodson township. He admits that he is a Democrat but says that two political parties are necessary in order to have good government.



John W. Pulse

Mr. Pulse spent 10 days at the Chicago World's Fair in 1893 and that is the longest period he was ever away from home. His wife died in 1937 after they had celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary. They were the parents of four daughters.

Today there are many branches of the family scattered throughout the county and in other localities, including Harley S. Pulse, attorney, and present mayor of the village of Lynchburg, and Paul F. Pulse, instructor of vocational agriculture at the Hillsboro High School.

The Pulse family is one that the people of Highland county can well be proud of.

Harvey McClelland, aged 22 Wheat Ridge, northern Adams c died last Monday morning as the sult of horrible burns received while repairing his automobile.

The accident occurred the previous Thursday on the West Union and Dunkinsville Pike. The young man was accompanied by his father and a friend, when the Ford quit functioning. Having no flashlight the two marker lights on the front of the car were placed on the ground, one on each side of the car.

McClelland then crawled under to fix the trouble. Thinking the gasoline flow clogged he removed the feed pipe and in so doing the liquid flowed down over his hands, face arms and clothing.

In tightening the tap the wrench slipped sideways, struck a lamp, upset it and broke it. Instantly there was an explosion and McClellend was enveloped in flames. He crawled from under the car and his father and friend immediately began tearing the blazing clothing from him.

However, crazed by the agony of the burns young McClelland broke away from them and ran up the road. He was quickly overtaken, thrown to the ground and the remainder of the burning clothing torn off. Had the young man not torn away and ran, it is thought that the other men could have torn the clothing off before he was fatally burned.

However the terrible burning he received and the resulting agony proved too much for his heart and its action began to weaken on Saturday and he died on Monday. His father and the friend, Mr. Blanenship, were also painfully burned about the hands.

Norman's suffering lasted but a little while and all that earthly ministration could do was done, but of no avail and while His purpose for calling this little bud unto Himself is hidden from us someday in that better land all will be known. Jesus has said, "Suffer the little children to come unto me and forbid them not for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

Father and mother now have two treasurers in Heaven, an infant sister having preceded Little Norman.

Norman was of a sunny and lovable disposition ready to love and be friends with everyone. Brooding over imaginary financial troubles caused Samuel J. Irvin, 45, prominent and well-to-do farmer of near Blanchester to hang himself in his father's garage in Blanchester on Tuesday at noon.

His body was discovered in a half hour after he had left the house and not later than a quarter of an hour after he had committed the rash act, but all efforts to revive him failed.

Mr. Irvin had been ill for several weeks, and as he was living alone on his farm in the Clarksville neighborhood, decided that it would be advisable to come to the home of his parents in Blanchester where he would have proper care. This he did about two weeks ago, since then living with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. James Irvin.

Tuesday morning Mr. Irvin seemed to be very nervous and about eleven o'clock it is said that his mother advised him to take a walk out to his sister's home, about a mile out of town, and return in time for dinner.

He left the house and did not return. His father came in for dinner and the parents sat down at the table. After waiting a few moments for their son, Mr. Irvin remarked that perhaps he had returned and was working in the garage. Accordingly Mrs. Irvin arose from the table and went to the garage in the rear where she found the door fastened on the inside. Recalling her sons' extreme nervousness and fearing that something might be wrong she summoned her husband who broke down the door and found his son's lifeless body hanging from a rafter.

Apparently the nervous and despondent man had gone directly to the garage, secured a rope, climbed upon a shelf, fastened the rope to a rafter and around his neck and stepped off the shelf. One hand was still resting on the shelf when the body was found.

Although every measure of assistance was immediately rendered, life was extinct. The deceased is survived by his sorrowing parents, one married daughter, two sisters and two brothers.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock yesterday, (Thursday) at the home and interment was made in the Second Creek Cemetery.

OBITUARY.

"Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord for they are at rest."

In the early hours of Friday morning October, 14th, 1921 the spirit of Sarah Hochenberger took its flight and went to be with her Savior in the Realms above.

Sarah J. the youngest child of Laurentz and Frederica Pfister was born in Webertown, Ohio, March 15, 1854, departed this life, October, 14th, 1921, aged 67 years 6 mo. and 29 days.

She was married to Frank Hochenberger July 18, 1880 and to this union were born 10 children, 6 girls and 4 boys, all of whom are living, except the eldest child, who died in infancy. As a wife, she was constant and tender, as a mother, she was devoted, sacrificing and loving, trying to train her children right.

Those can say who knew her best, that she was a good woman, and a Good Woman is one of the noblest gifts of God. We have a building of God, a house not made with hands, Eternal in the Heavens. We need not go alone, for Jesus will lead us thru the dark Valley of The Shadow of Death and we need have no fear. In early life she became a member of the Lutheran Church at Lynchburg, Ohio, and lived a true Christian life. So husband and children, do not think of Mother as being dead, but think of her as being in that beautiful home, looking out for you to come. We know that she is free from all sorrow and pain and that she is happy.

Death has again visited our community and removed from it one of our oldest and most highly esteemed citizens in the person of Matthew Houston. Mr. Houston was a member of the Church of Christ for many years. His funeral was held at the M. E. Church Sunday conducted by the Rev. Scarff of Spring Valley in the presence of a vast concurse of sympathetic friends, after which his body was laid to rest there in the local cemetery to await the call of Him. Who shall immortalize and fashion it after his own glorious body.

An automobile casualty very intimately affecting The Gazette force occurred Sunday evening when Mrs. E. T. Sanderson of this city, a sister of Mr. W. B. Kent, Business manager of The Gazette and the Leesburg Citizen, sustained injuries that resulted in her death a few hours later.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson, who were married about a year and a half ago, together with her brother and sister, H. A. and Miss Lena Kent of Hillsboro, had driven to Columbus, where they had visited Mr. Sanderson's son, Herbert, who was recovering from an operation.

The party was returning and was about three miles from Washington, C. H. when Mrs. Sanderson's nose glasses were dislodged by the wind. Thinking that they might be recovered unbroken, Mr. Sanderson turned the car toward Columbus, to give Miss Lena and Mr. Kent the benefit of the lights in their search. Mrs. Sanderson at first remained in the car with her husband, but suddenly, without an intimation of her intention, she opened the door and got out. At the time Mr. Sanderson was driving the car at a walking pace, behind the other two.

Whether she noticed the glasses along the road side, or whether she only wished to join her brother and sister in the search will always remain a mystery. It is certain however, that she was not aware of the approach of another car, driven by Mr. Edward McVey, who did not see Mrs. Sanderson until his car was almost over her. Apparently, said Mr. McVey, she raised up, coming into his vision a second before the impact which carried the victim several feet and sent the car hurling into a stone wall.

Dr. Herman Hodson of Leesburg happened along just a few minutes later, and an ambulance was summoned which took Mrs. Sanderson to the Hodson Hospital in Washington, where she expired at three o'clock the next morning, after every possible measure to save her had been exhausted.

Both arms and a leg were broken, her chest crushed and terrible injuries about the face and body were sustained.

The McVey car was demolished and an eight months old babe was thrown through the wind-shield and several yards away. By a miracle, neither the child nor its parents and another little boy who was in the Ford Coupe, were not injured to any great extent. Mr McVey

She was years of age and was recognized one of Highland County's most successful business women. She was consistent member of the Christi Church of Hillsboro.

She is survived by three brothe Henry A. and Van G. Kent of Hill boro, and W. B. Kent. of Leesbur and three sisters, Mrs. Anna Hob and Miss Lena Kent of Hillsboro a Mrs. Alice Fanning of Westcheste Ohio.

Funeral services were held at th home at 2. P. M. Wednesday, conduc ed by Rev. Chester Crabtree of th Christian Church. Interment wa made in the Hillsboro Cemetery.

To the bereaved husband an brothers and sisters the deepest sym pathy of a shocked and saddene community is extended.

William T. Granger Died In Oklahoma

William T. Granger, a former Hillsboro resident, died at his home in Muskogee, Okla., Friday night Oct. 21, after an illness of several months from kidney and heart trouble.

His brother, Fred Granger had been notified of Williams' serious condition and arrived in Muskogee in time to be with him for several hours before the end.

As soon as word of the death was received here Mr. Frank Zane, a brother of Mrs. Granger, left for Muskogee, it being understood that the funeral services would be held immediately upon his arrival.

Will Granger, as he was most generally known, was born at Russell and came to Hillsboro when but a lad, his father Dr. B. F. Granger coming to this village, where the children were educated in the Hillsboro Schools.

Soon after attaining his majority Will Granger moved to Oklahoma where he promptly made good and has become a man of wide influence in his community when death called him away.

While living in Texas he met and married his first wife, who died some years ago, leaving a son and a daughter. About eighteen months ago Mr. Granger came to Hillsboro and married Miss Katherine Zane a boyhood friend, who returned to Oklahoma with him.

The deceased, who was about forty-five years of age, is survived by his wife, the two children, two brothers and a very wide circle of friends both here and in the South West.

OBITUARY

Homer Whisler, son of Carey and Mary E. Whisler was born at Otway, Ohio, January 21, 1894 and met his death on the morning of October 9, 1918 in the Argonne Forest near Romagne, France, where his company was doing active fighting. Aged 24 years, 8 months and 18 days.

He is survived by his father, mother, three brothers and one sister.

When twelve years of age he united with the Baptist Church of New Market, Ohio and remained of that faith till he met his death.

He was a member of the I. O. O. F. Lodge No. 844 of East Danville, Ohio, also of the Macabees Lodge, No. 522 of Middletown, Ohio.

Homer was of a very sympathetic nature, willing to spare his last penny with some more unfortunate than himself.

At the time of his entering the service of his country on September 20, 1917, he was employed by the Miami Cycle and Manufacturing Company of Middletown, Ohio and his name appears on their honor roll. His name will also be inscribed on the tablet of Honor to be placed in the Memorial Building, to be erected by the city of Middletown in honor of their boys who gave their lives for their country's cause.

He received his military training at Camp Sherman, and on March 4, 1918 he sailed for France where he was placed in company I,-- 126 Infantry of the 32nd Division. He was at the front many times from June 1918 to the time he met his death and took part in many battles.

His Captain, Fred W. Jankaskie, of the 126th Infantry has said that he distinguished himself by going out to the assistance of his wounded Sergeant who was lying in a shell hole calling for help, when a machine gun bullett struck him in the head killing him instantly. He had shown extraordinary heroism in all battles and his loss was felt by the members of his company.

Brave, patient, heroic soldier, your earthly pilgrimage is ended. You have acted well your part. We salute thee. We praise thee and thy brave comrades who heard the country's call and gave their lives that others might live.

Last rites of respect were paid Sunday over the body of Homer Whisler, a soldier in the World War, who gave his life while fighting for his country in the Argonne, October 9th, 1918.

A short service was held at 1:30 at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carey Whisler, two miles south of New Market. The body was then taken to the New Market Baptist Church, where Rev. Hollingsworth, of Blanchester, a former pastor of the New Market church pronounced words of cheer to the family and friends and paid tribute to the young man who had given his all.

At the cemetery the Danville I. O. O. F. took charge of the service and following this the American Legion of Hillsboro added their farewell tribute to their comrade, who after three years had come home to rest on home soil. Dr. J. C. Larkin as post commander gave the American Legion ritulistic service, followed by prayer by the post chaplin, Capt. Earl Miller. A firing squad fired the historic three volleys, and a buglar blowed "taps", as the crypt was lowered to its last resting place.

Young Whisler was a member of Co. 1, 136 Infantry, 32nd Division. He was 26 years of age.

OBITUARY

The passing over, into the bourn from which no traveler returns, o Mrs. Eliza Igo, widow of N. W. Igo at her home in Sugartree Ridge o Thursday morning, although not un expected, for no hope of ultimate re covery had been offered for ove three and one half years, nevertheles this brought to her relatives an friends deep sadness at the earthl parting of the waves. But for her the rustle of the angles wings was released from years of invalidness, during which she had been surrounded by and enveloped in the care of brother, sister and friends.

With all her frailness and suffering the joys of life have been hers in overflowing measure, a typical gentle woman of the old school beneath whose exquisite charm and daintiness there lived a warm and sympathetic interest for her friends, and whose well developed humor of a distinctive delicacy, all her own, made her society a thing of double enjoyment.

Mrs. Igo's memory will be long revered in the community with which both she and her ancestors had been, from its earliest day, associated.

The allotment of three score years and ten seems but the "trifling space of time as she goes to form a sacred link in the golden chain of memory."

So ends the earthly career of Eliza Jane Igo, and so it must be with each of us.

She was born in Sugartree Ridge February 18, 1851, and died Octobe 6, 1921, at the age of 70 years, months and 18 days. She was th daughter of Allen and Susan Bun and had one brother Arthur M. an one sister Catherine Isabelle, both whom survive and have had the priv lege of always being near their si ter.

Baldwin conducted a farewell missionary meeting at the Holiness Mission on West Street, last night and will hold another at the Presbyterian Church at New Market at 10:30 Sunday morning.

Reece Barrett and Miss Anna Mather were married at the M. E. Parsonage in Hillsboro Thursday by Rev. Eason and left for a short wedding trip. They came Sunday to the home of the groom, and are receiving the congratulations of their many friends.

OBITUARY

On August 7, 1921, God sent to Mr. and Mrs. Garwood a lovely babe for which they tenderly and lovingly cared. But it was not the will of God that he should remain with them long, for on November 6, 1921, the Death Angel came and carried their little one back to the One who sent him.

Lovely babe, how brief thy stay!
Short and hasty was thy day;
Ending soon thy journey here,
Pain and grief no more to bear.
Hard it is from thee to part,
For it rends the aching heart
But an heir of glory's gone,
Let the will of God be done.
Pillow'd on a Savior's breast,
Sweetly sleep and softly rest;
Soon the mourning shall restore
The buried babe we now deplore.

SWISSHELM-HANN

Miss Margery Swisshelm, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Swisshelm, was recently married to Mr. Thomas E. Hann, Jr., a young business man of Columbus.

The wedding occurred in Columbus, where Miss Margery has been making her home, while engaged in the millinery business.

'Shoot first, then investigate" is the business method of the citizens of the "moonshine" district into which Lieutenant John Ballentine plunged with his airplane when he made a forced landing in West Virginia while on his way to spend the Fourth with his parents here. In a letter to his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John Ballentine, of Hillsboro, he graphically describes his experience, saying:

'You are probably wondering what has happened to me. Well, I am still down here in the mountains of West Virginia, among the coal mines and moonshiners.

'As you know, we hit here Saturday about ten o'clock. I don't know how we got so far off our track unless the compass was affected by the iron in the mountains or unless there was a strong North East wind at the altitude we were flying, which drifted us to the South.

"I saw a little river and realized we were lost and that our gas was almost gone. This river was the only possible landing place we had seen for 75 or 100 miles, so I decided we had better get down in the river if necessary. I flew along the river for about twenty miles and saw only one little patch of about five acres where there was one chance in a hundred of getting down. Most of the small fields are in corn and they are no more than garden patches, with fences all around. I headed for this little patch and started "squashing" down so as to hit with as little forward speed as possible. At the critical time— about thirty feet from the ground, my main gas tank gave out and I switched to the emergency but the motor would not pick up again. We squashed on in and hit on one wheel and broke the landing gear on that side—that wing dropped to the ground and we did a somersault just as pretty as you please, right through a man's bean poles and landed upside down in his strawberry patch. My mechanic's seat pulled lose and he went out on his head—my belt held me and I got out immediately after she settled (afraid of fire). I had cut my switch and she did not burn and neither of us got a scratch.

"The man came rushing down and said "I want your name and the number of this here automobile— you've done a lot of damage to my truck patch". I informed him that it was a government plane and that I didn't care if it ruined his truck patch. We had plenty of visitors Saturday and Sunday, who wanted to know how high we were when we started to "fall."

"Never have I worked any harder in my life than I have since then until yesterday evening, when I got the last of six crates of material on a freight car. Our engine and the other stuff we put in that last crate weighed 1,500 pounds. All the work had to be done out there in the open sun in this little valley, with hills 1,500 ft. high on both sides and not a breath of air.

"We took everything but the body and wings—which were too badly smashed up to be used again. I told the mechanic that we would just stay and rest today for we would not get to when we got back and we worked from seven in the morning until 8:30 at night, Sunday and the Fourth, too.

"This is a great locality. The miners are all on strike. We have five moonshiners within a mile of the house. Everybody carries a gun and you hear shooting all night long. It is not safe for a lone man to go on the road and it is terribly hot. I have stayed here at the man's house in the country. It has been cooler and I could work early and late and keep a watch on the wreck. These people steal anything.

"The C. & O. Railroad runs just between the house and the patch where we landed. I've seen a million cars of coal headed east. I've had my fill of seeing trains go past.

'I was sorry that I did not get home for the 4th, but I've enjoyed this experience greatly. This is the first plane that three fourths of the people around here have seen.

"I was first taken for a revenue officer and they were all doubtful as to whether it would be better to shoot me on sight or just watch me a while. More than one moonshine still was stopped.

Deaf Mute Killed By B. & O. Passenger Train

Terrible catastrophes seem to happen in a community in threes and this time honored superstition was born out in the Blanchester community Tuesday morning, when Tom Garrison, 19, a deaf mute was instantly killed by a South bound B. & O. passenger train out of Columbus, about two miles north of Midland City.

The young man was walking down the center of the tracks. The engineers, observing him, blew the whistle, but the young man, on account of his affliction, did not become aware of the approaching train. All brakes were thrown on, but the train did not stop until Garrison had been hit and thrown to one side of the right of way. Many bones were broken, but otherwise he was not mangled especially.

Garrison's home is in Midland City but as there was no undertaker in the town, he was taken on to Blanchester on the train.

It is said that he was out trapping and was returning. A muskrat carcass was found on the tracks. With the suicide of George Addis and the tripple murder near Cuba added to this later tragedy, the people of that community are hoping that there will be no other unpleasant sensations for some time to come.

Viola Crostwait, aged 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Crostwait of Clinton County, died Friday from lockjaw, caused by stepping on a rusty nail some days ago.

JAS. PILKINGTON BECOMES AUTHOR

Former Hillsboro Boy Writes For New York Times. His Boyhood Spent In Hillsboro. "Fifth Avenue of Yore" Interesting Story.

The following article by James Pilkington, which appeared in a recent issue of the New York Times under the heading "Fifth Avenue of Yore", should be as interesting to Hillsboro folks as to New Yorkers, as Mr. Pilkington is a Hillsboro boy, a cousin of Mrs. M. F. Carroll.

Mr. Pilkington lived as a boy in the small house just beyond the abutments on the Chillicothe Pike and his most intimate boy-hood companion was Zack Roads, who recently died.

It was Zack who first instilled into him the love for athletics that later made him famous the world over. He was employed on the farms of Dr. Lilly and Harvey Glenn as a boy, and went into the Civil War from the lithe farm, when he was less than 13 years of age—it being said that he was the youngest soldier in the Civil War.

When but a mere boy Mr. Pilkington was left an orphan and went through many struggles before attaining his present success. In the early nineties he entered the contracting business and since that time his forward march has been steady. He gained his preliminary experience in this line with John O'Connell of Hillsboro. After entering business for himself his success was rapid and marked and he took a prominent part in some of New York's [illegible] contracts. He is well remembered by most of the Grand Army boys here.

His article, "Fifth Avenue Of Yore", is most interesting and is given in full as follows:

"James Pilkington, known to every New Yorker who has been anybody for the past fifty or sixty years, is probably the most versatile amateur athlete of modern times. He is best known as a champion oarsman, but he has won medals and prizes too at trap shooting, tug-o'war, Greek and Roman wrestling, walking, and the shot put and has held the American amateur championship in heavyweight boxing and wrestling, bowling and the double scull.

With all this he has had time to carry on the business of a contractor for the past thirty years, until his eyesight failed. Previously he was for a long time a member of the police force, stationed at 23d. street and Broadway and was the most interesting place in New York to be.

"I wonder", said Mr. Pilkington the other day, at his home on Sedgwick Avenue— "I wonder how some important ladies would feel if they knew how many times I have carried them in my arms across the street! You see, in the old days Madison Square Park was the place where all the babies played. They used to come up Fifth Avenue, from the mansions there, with their nurses on their way to the Park, and, tho you may not believe it, the crossing was a busy and as confusing then as it is now, in a little different way; and a great part of my job was seeing the little ones across, either in their perambulators or on my shoulder. I won't give any of them away by telling the exact date.

'New York in those days was the grandest place in the world to live in. During the seventies and eighties, as Mr. Chauncey Depew said in his interview the other day, you would go out on the street and see all the important people in the city in a single day. The homes and the Theatres and the shops were all close together, and most people walked to and fro. There was no noise and dirt and but few of the poorer type of immigrants, and everybody that was anybody passed my corner every day and spoke to me. I knew them all, the actors and the great generals and the society folk.

"General Grant lived at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, and used to stand on the corner of Twenty-Third Street and Broadway every morning for a while smoking his big black cigar and watching the people pass. If he tried to do it now he'd be told to move on by one of Mr. Hylan's policemen, wouldn't he? But when I was on the force, he would pass the time of day, and I'd protect him a little bit, for if every one that passed had known who it was there would have been a crowd for him to talk to, and the General was never much on talking about anything much but the weather and the time of day. He was raised within eighteen miles of where I was born in Ohio, and I saw him a number of times during the war, so you might say I was pretty familiar with his ways before we met again on Twenty-Third Street and Broadway. In the early days he had a great reputation for riding and horsebreaking, and he distinguished himself, if you'll remember, in the Mexican war by his riding, carrying messages through where no one had been able to go before. But no one knew then what a great man he was going to be.

"I didn't take part in any of the big engagements during the Civil War myself, I was only twelve years and four months old when I ran away and enlisted. My father was in it too, and my mother was dead, so there was no one to keep me out! But I was with Morgan in some of the skirmishes in Ohio, and I remember very plainly all the great generals I saw, who afterward often passed my corner on their way to the Fifth Avenue Hotel and stopped to talk to me.

"There was Sheridan. I saw him often. He was French looking, short and dark, with a mustache and a little goatee. And there was Hancock, the finest looking man I ever saw, who roomed at the corner of Twenty-sixth Street and Broadway, and walked down every morning on his way to Governor's Island; and General 'Black Jack' Logan; and Custer that was so handsome; and Sickles going on his crutches all over the city; and Burnside, famous for the unfortunate battle of Fredericksburg, with his Dundreary whiskers; and Sherman wearing a full beard. They all passed my corner, and we passed the time of day. I used to meet Blaine, too, and Roscoe Conkling and Ferdinand de Lesseps, who built the Suez Canal.

Announcement has been made that Carroll E. King, Editor of the Gazette, will sever his connection with the paper on Jan. 2nd and will immediately there after leave for the South in the hopes of finding a climate that will improve the health of members of his family.

Mr. King has been connected with the Gazette for the past three years, coming to Hillsboro on Jan. 11th, 1919 at the time the partnership of Kent & King, (W. B. Kent and C. E. King) purchased the Gazette from the old Hillsboro Gazette Co. After a year of successful conduct of the business the present incorporated organization, The Hillsboro Gazette Co., was formed, Mr. W. B. Kent of Leesburg, being elected president and Mr. King, Secretary and Treasurer.

Mr. King has been personally in charge of the Hillsboro plant, while Mr. Kent remained at Leesburg, acting in a supervisory capacity and directing the business management of the Gazette. The company prospered and on July 1st, of the present year, a deal was made whereby Mr. H. G. McVey, Editor of the Leesburg Citizen acquired a considerable amount of stock in The Hillsboro Gazette Company and Mr. King became a third partner in the company owning and operating the Leesburg Citizen.

The three partners controlling the two companies have enjoyed owning a period of business association rather unique in business annals, it being their proud boast that never, during their entire association, has there been the slightest friction between them, never has there been any disagreement and never has there been an argument or difference of opinion as to the policies of the papers. The Gazette Editorial policy has been in the hands of Mr. King, it being the Democratic Organ of Highland County. Mr. McVey, himself an independent thinker, has been in charge of the Leesburg Citizen policies and that paper has been issued as an Independent organ.

A feeling of sadness now pervades the two offices due to the impending dissolution of the partnership. This is made imperative by the fact that Mr. King finds it necessary to take his Mother, Mrs. E. O. King, to the Southland in the hopes of finding a climate that may restore her to health. Johnson City, Tenn. has been chosen after careful investigation, as it is said to have the most equitable and beneficial climate of any city in the United States. It is not far from Ashville, N. C. and the climate is very much the same, without the altitude of Ashville. Mr. King has been offered a position on the staff of the Johnson City Chronicle, a daily newspaper, which he has accepted and will assume his new duties as Advertising Manager of that paper on January 8th.

Owing to the decision to make this change having come up suddenly, no definite arrangements have as yet been made with reference to the Gazette or the Citizen, but both papers have been placed on the market and one or the other will probably be sold within a week or two. Mr. Kent and Mr. McVey expect to continue the operation of the other plant, irrespective of which one is sold.

Mr. King will be accompanied by his Mother, his grandmother, Mrs. Margaret A. Banks, and his sister, Miss Margaret G. King, who has been a member of the Hillsboro Schools teaching staff during her residence in Hillsboro. She regretfully resigned this week, the resignation becoming effective at once.

Death Of Edward Dines

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Dines of this city were called to Dayton early this week on account of the death of Mr. Dines' father, Edward, who passed away in that city Saturday night.

The body was brought to Greenfield where funeral services were held at 1:30 P.M. Wednesday.

Mr. Dines was 82 years of age and his death was caused by the infirmaties of old age. He was one of Highland County's best known citizens, having for many years been a buggy manufacturer in Greenfield, being the founder and builder of the famous "Dines Buggies" which our fathers liked so well. He was also prominent politically and wielded a strong power for good throughout the county.

Mr. Dines is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. John Ryah, of Springfield, Ohio, and three sons, E. B. Dines of Hillsboro, James D. Dines of Detroit and Isaac of Dayton.

UIBLE—BARGER

The following announcement of the marriage of Mrs. Vertie Barger of Leesburg, daughter of Mrs. James Burton of this city, to Mr. W. D. Uible of near New Vienna will be of interest to the many Hillsboro friends of the bride.

On Wednesday at 4:00 p.m. n the presence of a small company of friends and relatives, Mrs. Vertie Barger, of Leesburg, was united in marriage with W. D. Uible, of near New Vienna. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. E. B. Ewing, at the U. B. Parsonage, at Hillsboro.

Old Landmark Will Disappear

A deal was closed Tuesday whereby one of the oldest land marks in Sardinia will be charged so as to almost eliminate it as a mark.

Charles T. McIntire sold the brick corner, built in the thirties by McMahan. This building was always considered a station on the "Underground Railroad, and the owner was a victim of the slave power. He was arrested and taken to a Kentucky prison where the exposure caused him to develop consumption. He never was proven guilty of the charge of helping slaves to escape, but it was the general belief that he did. There is a dark room on the upper floor of this building without a visable entrance and this is said to have been the hiding place for the slaves when they reached this point. A building in Ripley and the one in Sardinia are about the only two stations left in Southern Ohio. The slaves would cross the Ohio at Ripley and were concealed there the first day and when night came they would land in Sardinia how or by whom would never be known.

The building was purchased by A. L. Weisbrodt, who contemplates remodeling the entire interior. New floors will be put in and a new front. The second floor will be made into a modern flat, which will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Weisbrodt.

On the ground floor Mr. Weisbrodt will conduct a restaurant and soft drink parlor making it an up to date place, where the public can be served in the best manner.

In the spring Mr. Weisbrodt will have the building stuccoed and the old time building will have passed away and only the memeory that it was the station of the "Underground Railroad," will remain.

This is the most desirable business location in Sardinia and Mr. Weisbrodt can consider himself fortunate that he secured it. -Sardinia News.

Butlerville Man Killed

Grover Whitacre, of Butlerville, was killed last week when he was caught by a flying belt and thrown into the mechanism of the engine. His body was slammed and battered by the machinery and he was lifeless when his fellow worker reached him.

The community felt a sense of personal loss and sorrow, Thursday evening, when it became known that Walter Hoskins, widely known Blanchester man, formerly of Highland, had died at his home at 6:30 p.m.

His death coming within twenty minutes after he had arrived home, was terribly unexpected and his family and friends are almost prostrated by their loss.

Mr. Hoskins was a salesman for the McKeehan & Heistand Grocery Co. and because of his jovial and entertaining personality and energy was remarkably successful in his line, as well as very popular with the trade.

He had made a number of calls on Wilmington stores on the day of his death, and at one of the stores he remarked that he was not feeling well. He decided to take the train to Blanchester rather than attempt the journey in his machine, and just before he left Wilmington Fred Hardy of this place met him and talked with him, altho he did not notice any unusual signs of illness.

On arriving at Blanchester he managed to walk home, and a physician was immediately summoned, but his condition was too far advanced for any attention to save him. He had been ill with a cold, and this aggravated the heart trouble which was the immediate cause of his death.

Mr. Hoskins had been in the employ of the McKeehan Heistand Grocery Company for ten years and his death is a great loss to that firm, which valued his services highly. Previous to that time he engaged in the grocery and produce business in Highland, associated with Wilbur Thornburg. He spent a year in California after going out of the grocery business.

He is survived by the wife and three children, Kenneth, aged 17, Meridith aged 14 and Gretchen, aged 2 years and 6 months. His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. George Hoskins reside at Highland, as well as two sisters, Mrs. E. H. Ballentine and Mrs. Wilbur Thornburg.

Funeral services were held at Highland Methodist Church, Sunday afternoon at two o'clock and burial at the Highland cemetery. The funeral services were in charge of Rev. Mr. Parkin, former pastor of the Blanchester Methodist Church.

Funeral services were held at St. Mary's Episcopal Church at 2 P.M. Monday, conducted by Rev. David Wright, Rector of St. Paul's Church, Louisville, who was Mrs. Smith's son-in-law.

Mrs. Smith, who before her marriage was Miss Lucy Jane Reamey, was born in Henry County, Virginia, February 2nd, 1845.

She came to Ohio just before the Civil War to attend Mr. Hyle's School for Girls at Columbus, afterward finishing at Miss Emily Grand-Girard's Highland Institute at Hillsboro.

On December 5th, 1867 she was arried to Mr. James Wadman Smith, ho died on April 17, 1905.

Mrs. Smith was widely known and respected throughout this community, her interesting personality, kindly consideration and deep interest in all events transpiring making her very popular among her friends, the circle including both old and young.

She is survived by her three daughters, Mrs. Lucy Bell Morgan, and Mrs. Edith Reamey Sparks of this village, Mrs. Jane Adair Wright of Louisville, Ky., and one son, Mr. Lyne Starling Smith of Erie, Pa., and nine grandchildren.
